Seeking Drought Relief

Heinkel Urges More Federal Assistance For Dry-Stricken Farmers of State

COLUMBIA (P)—F. V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers Association, today urged federal aid for drought-stricken Missouri farmers.

Heinkel, pointing out that "at no time since anyone can recall has there been greater devastation than that caused by the two-year drought which pervades the state of Missouri," declared that the disaster is "doubly severe since it is accompanied by a growing farm depression."

"Our people are in serious trouble," Heinkel said in his telegram. "Thousands of farmers have been ruined financially. Merchants, bankers and others in towns and cities are being hurt. Cattle are being marketed in large numbers. Thousands of farmers cannot keep their herds intact longer than two or three weeks. Thousands of others have already been forced out."

Heinkel said that the relief program has not been working satisfactorily, and said that one of its shortcomings is lack of provision for roughage.

"The urgent need," he said, "is for hay. Dairy and beef cattle must have hay in order to pull through until spring. The nearest surplus of hay to my information are in the Dakotas and Minnesota, too far away for trucking. Rail rates from such distances would make hay prices in Missouri prohibitive. On behalf of the farmers of Missouri, I respectfully recommend that relief money be used to pay freight on hay so it can be shipped into Missouri."

Heinkel said that he understood that relief funds provided by Congress soon will be exhausted and he urged the President to use any emergency funds he may have to "bring relief to our distressed people."

"Unless hay and other feed are provided quickly and in wholesale quantities the people of Missouri will be dealt an economic blow they cannot recover from for a decade," he added.

Heinkel pointed out that there is also a dire need for long-term, easy credit in the state.

"The government must be provided by the government to keep farmers in business," he said. "Private bankers cannot meet the need here in Missouri. I am appealing to you because the catastrophe is so enormous and the time so short that I believe only the President can now cope with the situation."

Gen. McLaughlin Offering Trophy To Best Rifle Co.

Annual award of a trophy to the best rifle company in the 35th Infantry Division has been announced by Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, commanding general of the Missouri and Kansas National Guard unit.

McLaughlin, who has commanded the division since its reactivation in April 1947, said he was offering the 30 - inch silver trophy as special recognition to the foot soldiers of the division.

Eighteen of the division's rifle companies in Missouri and nine in Kansas will be eligible. The companies are components of the 137th Infantry Regiment in Kansas; the 138th Infantry in St. Louis; and the 140th Infantry in Southeast Missouri.

The trophy will be awarded on a calendar year basis, with the first award to be made next spring on the 1953 performance.

Among the items to be taken into consideration for the award will be attendance at drill and summer camp, average strength, percentage of men qualified in individual and crew served weapons, and unit ratings on armory inspections.

The company winning the trophy will retain it for a year, and will receive a miniature for permanent possession. A company can gain permanent possession of the cup by winning it three times.

Woman, 4 Children Burned to Death

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (P)—A mother and four of her young children, members of a Texarkana family seeking farm work, were burned to death three miles west of here early today.

Oh, Boy! Oh, Boy!

Yes, sir, the weatherman says showers are due and here's a vote for his being right. After yesterday's heat they'll be most welcome.

Scattered showers and cooler tonight. Generally fair and cooler Saturday. Low tonight near 55, and high Saturday near 80.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 69; 92 at 1 p. m. and 94 at 4 p. m.

One year ago today here high 91, low 60. Two years ago high 78, low 52.

US Stands Pat On UN Ban Against Naturals

America Formally Notifies Red Chinese And North Korea of Its Stand Today

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—The United States formally notified Communist China and North Korea today that it was standing pat on the U. N.'s decision barring neutrals from the Korean peace conference.

The United States spoke also for the 15 countries which fought alongside U. S. and South Korean troops against the Communists.

In a note transmitted through the Swedish government and circulated to all 49 members of the U. N., the United States called upon the Communists to act as quickly as possible to propose a time and place for the parley along lines laid down by the assembly last month.

The United States said it had taken note of Peiping's proposal that the assembly reconsider its decision, but made it clear the United States would oppose any such action.

"The resolutions already adopted by the General Assembly as to the composition of the conference speak for themselves and there is nothing further to add on that subject," the note said.

The United States reminded the Communists it already had proposed on behalf of the nations fighting under the U. N. banner that the conference be held at Honolulu, San Francisco or Geneva on Oct. 15.

It added: "We request an early reply as to place and time acceptable to each of your governments since it is essential that preparations for the conference start immediately."

The note was circulated as Australian Foreign Minister R. G. Casey called on the assembly to stand firm on its decision that only belligerent countries be invited to sit in the peace parley.

Casey said his own government would have preferred a different decision, but has now accepted the assembly's action and believed the Communists should do likewise.

"We believe the United Nations for its part has taken a proper decision concerning the political conference," he said, "and that the Communists Chinese and North Koreans should be advised accordingly."

Casey has taken a leading part during the past few days in private meetings of the 16 countries that fought under the U. N. banner in Korea. His view was understood to be that of the group.

The Australian foreign minister, Luke U. S. Secretary of State, said, appealed to the Communists to show by their acts in Korea and elsewhere that they want to ease world tension.

He expressed grave concern over the stockpiling of atomic weapons and the knowledge that both Russia and the United States now have the capacity to produce hydrogen bombs. Both sides may soon be approaching a saturation point, he said, and this makes atomic control "not only urgent but imperative."

Pakistan and Indonesia were scheduled for the rostrum this afternoon.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky may give the Kremlin's statement tomorrow, or he may wait until next week. Facing him was U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' review of American policy, which opened another challenge for Russia to the rest of the world.

Australia and New Zealand committed themselves just last week, in an ANZUS treaty review session with Dulles, to a continuing campaign to keep the Chinese Reds out of the United Nations. Both countries also had troops in Korea under the U. N. flag.

Pakistan last month supported the U. S. fight to bar such neutrals as India from the Korean peace conference. Indonesia supported the Assembly-rejected Soviet-Chinese Communist demand for a round-table parley of belligerents and neutrals.

The 15 U. N. allies of the United States in Korea restated their support of the American stand at a meeting last night attended by British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd, just arrived from London. Despite the studied effort of the Red Chinese and North Koreans to ignore Assembly appointment of the United States to negotiate on the conference site and date, the 16 allies agreed to send a new request to Peiping—by way of Sweden—to talk about those items.

A previous U. S. message also went via the Swedes. The Reds answered directly to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, rejecting the Assembly resolution on the peace conference makeup and asking that Russia, India, Indonesia, Burma and Pakistan be added as neutrals. The Communists also said the date and place of the parley should be decided after the conference lineup was settled.

The 16 allies reportedly decided to fight consideration of the new Red demands in the Political Committee by seeking a ruling that the subject was out of order. Korean items on the current Assembly's agenda deal with Korean rehabilitation and unification but do not mention the armistice agreement under which the peace conference is to be set up.

The out-of-order demand, it was reported, would be based on the contention that the Assembly has approved no agenda item to cover discussion of the conference makeup.

Late last night, however, Hammarskjold issued a note to the Assembly detailing the exchange of communications between his office and the Communists. U. N. sources said that by calling the demands specifically to the attention of the delegates, the secretary general had opened the way for debate on them and had thwarted any out-of-order move.

The Assembly yesterday afternoon adopted a 72-item agenda for discussion despite bitter Soviet bloc opposition to two items. One would launch the paper work preparatory to a 1955 conference on revision of the U. N. charter. The United States wants the charter revised; Russian delegates said flatly they oppose any changes.

The other challenged agenda item was a proposal to hear a report from a U. N. commission set up in 1950 to find out what became of half a million war prisoners from Germany, Japan, Italy and Austria who fell into Soviet hands and never have been accounted for.

City Democratic Committee Begins '54 Election Plan

The City Democratic Committee held a special meeting Thursday night in the Assembly Room of the Courthouse for the purpose of laying plans for 1954. Of the 32 committeemen and women, representing 16 precincts in the city, 25 were present.

Walter C. Cramer, chairman, presided and opened the meeting by explaining the purpose of the call. "We are here not to select any candidates, but to discuss plans for better organization," Plans for additional meetings and rallies were discussed.

Nearly every man and woman present made a few remarks on what they thought should or should not be done as to organization, resulting in definite planning for a stronger working group.

During the discussion several names were mentioned as prospective candidates for mayor next year to which Chairman Cramer emphasized the purpose of the meeting and said the committee could not pick or name a candidate, that this would be done by the city convention of delegates next spring. However, he did encourage the group to discuss with their friends the various candidates in an endeavor to get them interested in accepting if nominated.

A rally is being planned at which a prominent out-state speaker will be invited to give the principal address.

The Fall Rose Show, sponsored by the Sedalia Rose Society, will be held tonight at the Little Theatre at Smith-Cotton High School, starting at 8 o'clock.

Ask Ike Answer Charges

Republican Leaders Want Chief to Give Reply to Attacks On Farm Policy

CHICAGO (P)—Republican leaders pressed President Eisenhower today to stop off in Chicago to answer Democratic charges that the Republican farm program has gone sour and that U. S. allies are being confused by American foreign policies.

Eisenhower is due to stop over here briefly Saturday to pick up his son, John, and family on the way back to Washington from his vacation in Colorado.

Today Miss Ann Wheaton, assistant publicity director, said there had been no communication from the President and no indication that he might reverse his previous decision not to attend.

Sen. Ferguson, keynote of today's opening session of a Republican rally, said in an interview he hopes to persuade the President to take out enough time to give his own reply to charges fired at the Republicans here earlier in the week by Adlai E. Stevenson and former President Truman.

Eisenhower, in a message read to the conference, told the women he was confident that the results of their deliberation "will bring benefits of importance to the Republican party and to the nation as a whole."

The greetings from Eisenhower were read by Miss Bertha Adkins, head of the Republican Women's Division, as nearly 1,100 women from 18 states opened their two-day discussion and organization meetings.

Eisenhower said "I know that the deliberations of Sept. 18 and 19 will be carried out in the spirit and tradition of our great political heritage."

The Republicans, who had advertised this conference their answer to Democratic blasts, found themselves with only second string speakers after GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall became ill with a virus and couldn't attend.

Called suddenly into the breach, Ferguson blasted at Stevenson as being "soft toward communism" and offering "appeasement" to Moscow in the 1952 Democratic nominee's proposal for showdown negotiations with the Russians on a non-aggression pact and a disarmament agreement.

Governor Stevenson is urging us to meet at every opportunity whether it be on the Communists' terms or our own," Ferguson declared. "This shows a vast misunderstanding, such a lack of comprehension of the nature of communism that it is almost unbelievable."

Ferguson told a news conference yesterday that "99 per cent of the troubles that face America and the world today were produced at the conference tables where sat the masters of the Kremlin and those who follow this glib philosophy."

He said that while he is not foreclosing all negotiations with Moscow, "The only time to sit down at the conference table is on our own terms, not theirs."

"There can be no hope of stopping Communist aggression without a new kind of thinking philosophy which Harry Truman and Dean Acheson (former secretary of state) espoused for six long years and Adlai E. Stevenson now dresses up in new language once again," he asserted.

Ferguson twitted the Democrats in a prepared speech today for calling on Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois Democratic national committeeman, to tell them to concentrate on the farm problem in next year's battle for control of Congress.

Ferguson said that Arvey and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who captained a Democrat forum on agricultural issues here earlier in the week, "offered no alternative." He said that farm prices had fallen 18 points on the average in the last year of the Truman administration and had gone down only one point since Eisenhower took over.

He said that "responsible Democrats" were turning to Eisenhower's leadership, adding: "As long as the radical egghead elements control the Democratic party, as they do now, this country cannot survive under another Democratic administration."

Ferguson credited President Eisenhower with "forcing" the Chinese Communists to accept a truce, adding that "thanks to the Eisenhower administration American boys are no longer being killed in Korea."

He said that Eisenhower's April 16 speech "served plain notice on the Soviet Union that there was now an administration in Washington which would measure Soviet intentions by its actions, not by its words."

Ferguson credited this speech with bringing speedy results. "Communist fliers began to desert," William Oatis (Associated Press correspondent in Czechoslovakia) was released, the exchange of prisoners was commenced, the Korean truce was effected and riots broke out behind the Iron Curtain for the first time since the Soviet masters took over control," he declared.

Despite Ferguson's valiant fill-in job, some Republican leaders said they think only Eisenhower himself adequately can answer Stevenson and Truman. The time and place, so far as they are concerned, is Chicago this weekend.

Dr. Mark Hale Addresses State Welfare Association

Urges Community Move to Establish Child and Youth Guidance Service; Lists Present State Aid to Children

The State Department of Public Welfare is able to help 52,000 children in Missouri at present through its adoption and children program, according to Dr. Mark Hale, guest speaker at the luncheon meeting Thursday of the west central region of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare.

Dr. Hale is director of the school of social work at the University of Missouri, Columbia, and a former professor of social economy at Tulane University, New Orleans, La. He has held several offices with the association, including chairmanship of the east central division and membership on the steering committee of the state council on children and youth.

The luncheon meeting began at 1:30 p. m. at the Fifth Street Methodist Church. It was preceded by a business meeting at 10:30 a. m. in the local office of the State Division of Welfare, located in the basement of Central Business College.

Dr. L. Avery Fleming, chairman of the west central region, presided.

The statement made by Dr. Hale was contained in his talk on "Community Standards for Our Children—How to Achieve Them." He said that aid under the ADC program is being given to 21,000 families in an average amount of $60 a family each month or $18 a child. He said it is probably the largest and most far-reaching program of its kind in the state.

An unfortunate detriment to this program, he added, is that it is offered only to a child up to 16 years of age, he is mentally or physically incapacitated, the aid will continue until he is 18, and he is a child welfare worker.

He told the association members and others attending the meeting that child welfare services by the State Department of Public Welfare provides trained workers in this field and gives counseling services to families.

Sedalia has no unit of this kind. The local staff assumes the responsibility as much as possible, according to Miss Roseanne Dugan, director of the local office of the State Division of Welfare, and it is already overburdened with public assistance administration.

Dr. Hale gave five steps in acquiring a child counseling service for a community like Sedalia. First, get an active organization interested in the problem of child guidance. Second, evaluate present conditions in the community, including an inventory of what services are available. Third, make the community aware of what is needed in child guidance. Fourth, tell the community what the present agencies now are trying to accomplish. Fifth, endeavor to establish a child welfare unit with trained workers for counseling service.

A question and discussion period was held after Dr. Hale completed his talk.

Representatives from throughout the west central region were on hand for Thursday's meeting. The region includes 12 counties: Pettis, Benton, Camden, Cass, Cole, Cooper, Henry, Johnson, Lafayette, Moniteau, Morgan and Saline.

The association originally began in 1900 as the Missouri State Welfare Conference, but was changed to its present name in 1934, all the while enlarging its functions as the times demanded. It has established such projects as state training schools standards, juvenile court legislation changes, increase of public assistance grants, licensing of foster homes, recreation programs and aid for mentally retarded children. It has its own official journal, "Building a Better State," and periodically publishes pamphlets and leaflets.

The Missouri Council on Children and Youth, part of the association of which Dr. Hale is a member, is comprised of more than 150 organizations interested in children. It was organized in 1950.

Other officers of the west central region are: Joy O. Talley, director of the state vocational rehabilitation program of the state department of education, first vice chairman; Miss Dugan, second vice chairman; Miss Irene Galbraith, welfare director in Johnson County; secretary, and Charles Trigg, Jefferson City, treasurer.

Police said Han and Choe were arrested by South Korean national police two days after Dean was released.

I talked with them today outside the jail room at the Seoul central police station, where police brought them to pose for pictures. Choe would not answer questions. Police charge Han and Choe led Dean into a trap after promising to help him return to Allied lines.

Asked if he was the first Korean Dean met in the Chinese capital, Han said, "Yes."

"Without hesitation Han said 'Yes.'"

Asked what the general said at that time, Han said, "He did not say much. I could not understand the few words he said."

Han claimed he had intended to lead Dean to "a hotel." But, he said, a group of Communist "home guards" caught the general on the way.

Police said Choe also received a reward from the Reds.

Mouton Siamese Twins' Chances Are Improving

NEW ORLEANS (P)—Chances of surviving improved steadily today for Louisiana's Siamese twins, separated yesterday in a history-making operation.

Foundation hospital officials said the twin daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton of Lafayette "still continue to do well."

Dr. L. L. Weismiller, hospital director, said, "The longer they continue to do well, the better their chances are. And it looks encouraging."

The 8-week-old girls, Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne, were joined near the base of the spine. Hospital spokesmen say as far as they can determine both twins have never survived such an operation.

The babies will regain their strength for several days before doctors examine to determine what further surgery is needed.

The soft-spoken 37-year-old father said after the operation, "God Almighty has been very generous so that we could have our little girls perfectly normal."

Mouton and his attractive 33-year-old wife stayed in a private room during the operation with a Bible in their hands.

Airport Dedication An All-Day Event For City on Sunday

Dedication for Sedalia's new Municipal Airport will be an all-day event Sunday and the public is invited to take part in all but the fly-in breakfast for the pilots and their passengers.

A ceremony will be held in the afternoon, several planes will be displayed on the ground and there will be a partial air show. Model planes will also be demonstrated.

Report All PWs Returned Who Will Go

Red Correspondent Reports 'Handful' Want to Remain

PANMUNJOM (P)—Red Correspondent Wilfred Burchett said today the Communists have returned all Allied war prisoners "except the handful which won't go back."

The Australian-born correspondent for the French newspaper L'Humanite said Communist officials are carefully checking a list of 3,404 men, including 944 Americans, the U. N. Command says were prisoners but were not returned.

Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., son of the former 8th Army commander, definitely is not a prisoner, said Burchett, who often speaks unofficially for the Communists.

"I made an exhaustive search of public stamps in North Korea," Burchett said. "We knew a B26 crashed in flames that night he disappeared and all the men were lost."

Young Van Fleet was piloting a B26 bomber when he failed to return from a mission over North Korea in April, 1952.

Burchett said most of the names on the Allied list of 3,404 missing are there because of "faulty book-keeping" by the Allies.

The Reds have not officially replied to the U. N. demand for an accounting of the missing men.

The correspondent presumably did not refer to a group of airmen he acknowledged earlier were held by Red China. The Communists claim all were shot down over Manchuria.

Burchett identified among this group Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., of Suez City, Iowa, a double U. N. jetee whose name appears on U. N. list.

Mid-Summer Heat Marks Dropping; Cool Front Due

KANSAS CITY (P)—Mid-summer temperatures were retreating out of Missouri today before a cool front.

The weather bureau expects the change to bring considerable cloudiness with scattered showers, mostly in the east and south, and high temperatures Saturday ranging from 75 in the northwest to 85 in the southeast.

St. Joseph sweltered under a top reading of 102 degrees yesterday. Kansas City's high of 98 broke the all-time record. Maryville also had a 98.

Taking a long range look at the situation, the weather bureau expects readings of 2 to 5 degrees below normal for the next five days, but very little rain, which is what the state needs to overcome the severe drought.

An example of the severity of the drought is the low stage of the Black River at Poplar Bluff. The stream is down to 1.57, four inches lower than the all-time low record. That area has had only 21 inches of rain this year, as compared with normal precipitation of 50 inches.

Shortly before noon, the cool front was moving southward on a line from St. Joseph to Topeka, Kas. At 11 A. M. temperatures had reached 85 at Kansas City, 89 at Joplin and 87 at Kirksville.

Atiques, hobbies, collections, unique items, all manner of things, each with a little story behind it, are on display at the Immanuel Church and Reformed Church, Fourth and Vermont. The exhibit of old and new things began Friday and will continue until 10 o'clock tonight.

There is the original bridal wreath and flowers worn by Anna Orloff at her marriage to Robert Schwarz on Oct. 9, 1877, and along with the flowers are a sampler, woven coverlet and other things.

In one case are the very valuable Westward 30 dishes, with several of the rare pieces with the Indian on them. In the same case are exquisite figurines, fine hand painted china dishes, a corsage of dark red feather roses, and other things.

Of unusual interest are the soap carvings of Mrs. Russel Sharp, and the copper work of Ernest Liebel, which includes a small chest and a lantern which was used on the "Christ the Light of the World."

"Christ, the Light of the World," "Poultry is my hobby, ornamental and live," reads a sign beside a basket of fresh eggs around

Even square dancing enters in with a exhibit of square dancing boots and slippers and square dance music.

The show has a wide assortment of things very modern and very old. One woman even displays awards she has won in local and national contests she has entered. Contests are her hobby.

Russians Claiming New Bomb

Advanced Type Atom Bomb Announced, Reds Still Want Ban On Deadly Weapons

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet government today claimed successful tests of "new type" atomic bombs in recent weeks but said it still wants an international ban on mass destruction weapons.

The announcement by the Soviet news agency Tass said the blasts occurred "in the last few weeks" but gave no details of the "new type" weapons tested.

(In Washington, a spokesman for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission said the Russian announcement "merely confirms" the "fission-atomic" explosion of about the same power as recent U. S. tests in Nevada had taken place Aug. 23 in Russia. The previous statement added the explosion "would appear to be part of a series.")

(The American spokesman emphasized again that the Aug. 23 explosion was a "fission," or atomic, blast. Observers in Washington concluded from this that the Soviet explosion apparently did not involve the thermonuclear reactions of a hydrogen bomb.)

(Moscow's announcement stirred speculation at United Nations headquarters in New York that it was timed to pave the way for new Soviet disarmament proposals to the U. N. Assembly, which has just opened its eighth annual session in New York. These were not expected to differ materially, however, from previous Russian disarmament offers the United Nations has repeatedly rejected.)

The Soviet statement said that although the Soviet Union "is able to give attention to the production of atomic weapons," it would pursue a policy of attempting to reach agreement with other nations on arms cuts and the prohibition of atomic weapons under strict international control.

Asserting that Russia considers putting atomic energy to peaceful uses its most important task, the statement said the Soviets are "carrying out the task of employing atomic energy for industrial purposes."

The AEC spokesman in Washington indicated the commission had found nothing additional of interest to add to its Aug. 31 statement. At that time, the AEC said it would make no further announcement about Russian tests "unless intelligence indicates information of greater interest."

"We are standing on the Aug. 31 statement," the U. S. spokesman said last night.

Apparently the Russian explosion involved some kind of hydrogen blast. On Aug. 21, the AEC announced that the Soviets had conducted atomic tests Aug. 12 involving both fission and thermonuclear reactions. Thermonuclear is a term scientists often use to describe a hydrogen explosion.

Mrs. MacLean May Have Fled East by Railroad

GENEVA, Switzerland (P)—Swiss police today began checking a theory that Mrs. Donald Maclean and her three children crossed the Iron Curtain into Austria last Saturday with a sleeping car ticket issued in London 12 days earlier.

Maclean, the wife of a senior British Foreign Office official believed to have switched into Soviet-controlled eastern Europe in 1951, disappeared from her home here a week ago.

She and her children were last definitely identified by a fellow passenger, Prof. Andre Guignard of Lausanne, on a train which left Lausanne for Zurich Friday. Beyond Fribourg, where the professor left the train, Mrs. Maclean's trail vanishes as completely as did that of her husband more than two years ago.

But Swiss police unearthed a slender new clue today in their investigation of the possibility that Mrs. Maclean changed trains in Zurich and travelled unnoticed into the Soviet zone of Austria.

A sleeping car compartment for two was ordered by a travel agency in London from Zurich to Vienna on the Arlberg Orient Express leaving Zurich Friday. The agency's Zurich office made the reservation for berths 17 and 18 and advised London accordingly, but received no notification of the name of the persons for whom the berths had been reserved.

Swiss police conducting the search said they would investigate to whom these tickets were issued in London. Mrs. Maclean may have had help in her disappearance, since a telegram was sent on her behalf to her mother by an unidentified woman who was definitely identified as not being Mrs. Maclean.

With 39 American rotation troops from Missouri, personnel from Korea scheduled to arrive at San Francisco Sunday, is Sgt. T. C. Charles W. Jett, 1404 East Fourth, Sedalia. The returning troops are aboard the transport General A. W. Brewster.

Show Amounts Schools Lost By Funds Veto

The office of C. F. Scotten, Petis Co. superintendent of schools, has issued figures showing the amount most of the county's school districts lost in state aid when Gov. Phil M. Donnelly vetoed additional appropriations for schools and state mental institutions.

Such appropriations are provided for a two-year period, but the figures released for Pettis County by Supt. Scotten also give the one-year amount lost. Total amount lost by the districts combined for one year is $40,580.28. For the whole two-year period, the estimated loss is $81,160.56, according to Supt. Scotten.

The school districts, their estimated one-year and two-year losses and the approximate increase in local levies to make up for these losses are as follows:

Bunker Hill, $233.22, $466.44, 34 cents; Scott, $233.22, $466.44, 29 cents; Prairie Grove, $233.22, $466.44, 24 cents; Anderson, $233.22, $466.44, 17 cents; Mosby, $233.22, $466.44, 44 cents; Liberty, $233.22, $466.44, 27 cents; Striped College, $466.44, $932.88, 12 cents.

High Point, $466.44, $932.88, 20 cents; McVey, $233.22, $466.44, 26 cents; Sunny Side, $233.22, $466.44, 13 cents; Tanglehook, $233.22, $466.44, 25 cents; Camp Branch, $233.22, $466.44, 18 cents; Bothwell, $233.22, $466.44, 29 cents.

R-1, $466.44, $932.88, nine cents; R-2 (Hughesville), $1,865.76, 18 cents; R-3, $233.22, $466.44, 11 cents; R-4 (Housatonia), $1,632.54, $3,265.18, 19 cents; R-5 (La Monte), $2,332.20, 19 cents; R-6, $466.44, 16 cents; R-7 (Smithton), $3,031.86, $6,063.72, 23 cents; R-8, $932.88, $1,865.76, 17 cents; R-9 (Green Ridge), $2,332.20, $4,664.40, 17 cents; R-10, $932.88, $1,865.76, 14 cents; C-3 (Longwood), $466.44, $932.88, 11 cents; Georgetown, $466.44, $932.88, 30 cents; Sedalia, $22,622.34, $45,244.68, 22 cents.

Polar Bear Invades Our Arctic Defenses

SONDRESTRÖM AIR BASE, Greenland (AP) — This link in the chain of Arctic defenses has had its first invasion—a visiting polar bear.

A sergeant working recently in a radio transmitter building, near the far end of the runway where cliffs come down from the Greenland ice cap, heard a noise. He stepped outside to investigate and came face to face with the bear. The sergeant got some bread and offered it to his visitor. The bear spurned the handout. He started after the sergeant who streamed into the radio building and slammed the door.

The sergeant radioed the main base. No one at Sondrestrom had ever heard of a polar bear in the area. The sergeant's advisory was considered with doubt. But a major, accompanied by a photographer, jumped into a jeep.

Their doubts were resolved upon arrival. The bear was waiting. The photographer started to make a picture and the bear charged. The major grabbed up a steel bar. He struck the animal across the throat and over the head, slowing down the charge and giving the two men time to join the sergeant in the radio hut.

Another radio call went out for reinforcements. Three air policemen, armed with carbines, headed for the scene. With them went a Danish liaison officer, Maj. Erik Borreby, to give formal approval for taking aggressive action in the field with the intruder. It seems there is a Danish-American agreement providing that no game shall be killed by American personnel.

Twenty bullets from the carbines killed the bear and the invasion was over.

2 THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Fri., Sept. 18, 1953

OBITUARIES

Robert M. Fritz

Robert M. Fritz, 75, a retired Missouri Pacific shopman, died at 3 p.m. Thursday at his home, 415 West Sixth, following a long illness.

He was born at Zurich, Switzerland, June 18, 1878, and came to this country with his parents in 1882. They settled in St. Louis, being there a year before coming to Sedalia, where he spent the rest of his life.

He was a son of Robert M. and Marie Jaeger Fritz.

At the age of 21 he had the privilege of visiting his birthplace, spending nearly a year visiting relatives there and in Germany. During the time spent abroad he visited the International Exposition in Paris.

His education was received in Sedalia schools and he attended Robbins Business College, now Central Business College.

He was a lifelong member of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church in Sedalia.

Between the years 1912 and 1921 he conducted a restaurant on South Ohio in the 100 block and later worked in the car department at the railway shops from which he retired in 1947.

Surviving are: his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Marie Fritz, of the home; a brother, Charles Edward Fritz, Chicago; a sister, Mrs. Fred Fuchs, route 1, Sedalia; a granddaughter, Sherilyn Fritz, Chicago; a nephew, Robert J. Egert, Birmingham, Mich.; and a niece, Mrs. J. Arnold Taylor, Little Rock, Ark. Two sisters preceded him in death.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel where funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, the Rev. R. T. Cordy, who has been serving the congregation of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church in the interim before the coming of the new pastor, to assume charge.

Mrs. Lillian Fox will play organ music.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Connor
Charles Wilson, 1312 East Third, received a message Friday morning informing him of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Connor, 84, at Independence.

Besides Mr. Wilson, she is survived by two other sons, Lloyd Connor, Jefferson City, and Clyde Connor, Independence.

Funeral services and burial will be held at Meta, Missouri. The hour is 2 o'clock Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left Friday afternoon for Independence to be with relatives there.

Eugene Houston Morris
Eugene Houston Morris, 46, Houstonia, formerly of Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Morris, Marshall, killed by a falling beam at the Sedalia Air Force Base Thursday, was the husband of Mrs. Hattie A. Darling Morris.

They were married Oct. 12, 1926 and she survives with: two sons and a daughter, Gordon Lee Morris, Dresden, and Cpl. Hansel E. Morris, serving in the U. S. Army in Korea, and Mrs. Thelma Harris, Albuquerque, N. M.; two stepsons, William W. Darling, Marshall, and Charles Darling Jr., Houston, Tex.; two sisters, Mrs. Lorene Stith, Arrow Rock and Mrs. Edna Elgin, Dallas, Tex.; a brother, Marvin Morris, Bosworth; his grandmother, Mrs. Lucinda Hill, Marshall; and seven grandchildren.

He was a member of the Assembly of God Church, Sixth and Summit.

The body was taken to the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

No contact had been made with the son in Korea up to Friday afternoon and whether he will be able to reach here for the funeral is not known.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Monday at Peninsula Church, 2000 E. 14th, near Blackwater, the Rev. Bird H. Campbell, of the Assembly of God Church, to officiate.

Burial will be in Peninsula Cemetery.

The body will remain at the McLaughlin Chapel until time to leave for the services.

William Robert Draffen
William Robert Draffen, 70 died at 9:45 p. m. Wednesday at his home in Buncheon.

He was the son of Robert Thomas and Elizabeth Sue Draffen.

Mr. Draffen retired from active farm work eight years ago. He spent all of his life in the Buncheon community.

He is survived by: three sisters, Mrs. Andy Snodgrass, Tipton, Mrs. Russell Cramer, Booneville; Mrs. Guy Schuster, Lamine. Two brothers, Ben and Wallace Draffen, preceded him in death.

The body is at the Richards Funeral Home in Tipton and will remain there until funeral services 4 p. m. Saturday at Buncheon Federal Church. Rev. E. F. Abele, Booneville, will officiate.

Pallbearers are: William Draffen, Robert Draffen, Thomas Draffen, Norman Nelson, Otis Herndon, and Eugene Booth.

Burial will be in the Buncheon Masonic Cemetery.

Karsten Denounces Federal Sales Tax

ST. LOUIS, (AP) — Congressman Frank Karsten (D-Mo.), denouncing proposed establishment of a national sales tax as placing the greatest burden on persons least able to pay, charged last night the proposal represents "the Republican philosophy of easing taxes on big incomes."

The St. Louis Democrat said, however, he did not think the Republicans in Congress had mustered enough votes to pass a federal sales tax. Karsten said he was confident the Democrats would block the proposed tax.

Police Ask Bomber To Surrender Himself

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police called today for Kansas City's bomber to give himself up before he killed someone.

It was Police Chief Bernard C. Brannon's latest move in the series of bizarre bombings directed at seven business places and an office building in the past three weeks. Police, with 50 officers working exclusively on the case, say they have met a blank wall in their investigation.

Ag. Dept. Is Offering Export
Wheat at Below Support Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is offering government-owned wheat in foreign barter deals at prices below the producer support price averaging $2.20 a bushel at the farm.

This was disclosed by a department report on grain market developments which showed that week before last 1,331,000 bushels of such wheat had been sold by the department's Commodity Credit Corp. for export.

This disclosure came about two weeks after Secretary Benson had informed Sen. Young (R-Ind.) that government-owned wheat is being made available for export only when the domestic market price is higher than the producer support price plus five per cent and reasonable carrying charges.

Young had criticized the department's grain selling policies, contending they were undermining farm prices.

Benson, in a reply, assured the

Attorney Is Ejected
From Committee Room
By McCarthy Order

NEW YORK (AP) — An attorney, known as Joseph R. McCarthy, threatened to cite for contempt, was forcibly ejected today from a committee hearing room.

Ordering the lawyer, Abraham Unger, thrown out, the Wisconsin Republican senator declared: "I will not allow a Communist lawyer to use this room as a transmission belt."

The dramatic episode came in the midst of a hearing by the Senate investigating subcommittee, headed by McCarthy.

Just before the flareup, a one-time Communist, John Lautner, had testified that Unger once was a "Communist functionary" and a member of the party's national committee.

Unger was one of the attorneys who served as defense counsel to 11 top Communist leaders convicted of conspiracy to teach and advocate forcible overthrow of the U. S. government.

Four College Tests For Draft on Nov. 19

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fourth series of college qualification tests, yardsticks for draft boards in deciding student deferments, are scheduled for Nov. 19 this year and April 22, 1954.

To be eligible, college students must not have taken the tests before and must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course. Application blanks are available at draft centers over the nation.

Some 483,000 students have taken the test previously. Selective Service said in announcing the new series. About 162,000 youths are currently deferred on the basis of test scores or class standings.

Mrs. Everett White, district president, District Missouri Federation of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will go to Jefferson City Saturday to attend the state board meeting of that organization.

Miss Hazel Palmer, Mrs. Frank Wagner and Miss Rose Leibbrand will go to Jefferson City on Sunday where they will join the board for a conference on plans for the biennial National BPWC convention which will be held in St. Louis in 1954.

Jaycees Taking Part In Cancer Fund Project

The Sedalia Jaycees are making plans to take part in the unique fund-raising campaign by the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund and the United State Junior Chamber of Commerce to aid in the cancer research.

The campaign is labeled "Lite-A-Lawn—Bring Cancer Out of the Dark." Dain J. Domich, president, of the U. S. Jaycees, said it will involve the sale of reflectorized address markers for front lawns.

Mass sales of the markers will begin Oct. 1 in 2,500 communities having Jaycee Chapters with the organization's 200,000 members assuming the role of volunteer salesmen. The sign will sell for $2.88.

Prior to Oct. 1, the national Jaycees headquarters in Tulsa will send a complete "Lite-A-Lawn" project kit to the presidents of all local chapters, and Sedalia will join other chapters in the sale of the signs.

Profits from the "Lite-A-Lawn" campaign will be used to help the Damon Runyon Fund meet the increased cost of financing cancer research in 168 institutions in 47 states, the District of Columbia and 14 foreign countries.

Don Richardson of Sedalia is state chairman for Missouri and the chairman for the campaign in Sedalia will be appointed soon.

Orders Check-up Of Meat Prices
In This State

LEBANON (AP) — Attorney General John M. Dalton announced today he has ordered an investigation of meat prices to determine whether Missouri anti-trust laws are being violated.

Dalton made the announcement in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the LaCade Electric Cooperative.

He struck out at packing companies for keeping meat prices high and said one of his assistants is investigating to find out whether there is an illegal combination in restraint of trade "to keep meat prices at a high level while the price the farmers get for their cattle have fallen to the lowest level in many years."

Why, Dalton asked, should beef prices at the meat counter be 400 to 800 per cent higher than prices farmers currently are getting for cattle at the stockyards?

The attorney general also warned that rural electric cooperatives are in a fight for their lives.

"If the private electric companies get control of all electrical power produced from dams and other public sources," he said, "they can tell co-ops how much power they will have to pay."

"This power fight concerns whether the co-ops own their own electricity and power sources, or whether they will have to buy energy from private utilities and pay them a profit."

State's Civil Defense Chief
Wants More Plan

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP) — The head of Missouri's Civil Defense Agency called today for stepped up defense mobilization throughout the state.

A. S. McDaniel, defense director, made the appeal as Washington defense officials disclosed five Missouri cities are probable targets for atomic attack.

St. Louis and Kansas City are classed as critical target areas along with 52 other cities in the nation. St. Joseph, Springfield and Jefferson City are three of the nation's 117 additional target areas.

McDaniel said much valuable planning has been done on the Missouri defense program and now it's time to put it into operation.

"A great deal of hard work remains to be done," he said, "and it is hoped that any aggressor nation will spare us the time. The job must be completed soon—sooner than most persons realize—now that Russia has mastered the secrets of the hydrogen bomb."

MKT Is Offering Family Fare Plan For Rail Travel

ST. LOUIS—The Missouri-Kansas Texas Railroad will offer a family fare plan of travel, effective Sept. 21, which provides substantial savings in transportation costs when a parent is accompanied by spouse or other members of the family.

E. A. Bohmeyer, Katy passenger traffic manager, said the plan is for Pullman passengers on M-K-T trains. It provides that either husband or wife pay one full fare and the other spouse and all children from 6 to 21 years of age, pay only one-half of the full fare.

The 50 per cent reduction also applies to the children when only one parent makes the trip. As in the past, children under 5 will ride free only if the husband and wife travel together, then 50 per cent of the full fare applies for transportation of the wife.

Family fare is available for journeys starting Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday.

'S' Club's Fall Banquet Tuesday

The annual fall banquet and business meeting of the Smith-Cotton "S" Club will be held Tuesday, Sept. 22, at 6:30 p.m.

Invitation cards have been sent to the addresses of members that were received. These should be returned as soon as possible. Reservations may still be made by calling Mrs. Claude Lambirth, telephone 3082.

The guest speaker for the banquet will be Miss Hazel Gray, who has recently returned from a nation-wide trip during which she has been studying the problems facing schools today.

As part of the business meeting plans will be discussed concerning the homecoming celebration. A special effort will be made to encourage all alumni to attend this celebration.

Activity cards will be distributed for the coming football and basketball seasons to all members in good standing.

Officers for the coming year will be elected and installed.

Envoys Meet to Talk About Red Slow-down
Tactics In Europe

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — U. S. envoys in western Europe met here today for a study of Russian tactics to slow down west European unification.

The diplomats who represent America in the six member nations of the Schuman steel and coal community were joined by Livingston Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Charles E. Bohlen, American ambassador to Moscow.

The group convened with David K. Bruce, Washington's ambassador to the Schuman plan headquarters here.

Officials described the session as a routine exchange of views and a survey of the present situation, but Bohlen's participation made it evident the envoys would devote much attention to the Kremlin's attitude toward pending decisions on the European army and moves toward European political federation.

Drought Is Forcing Oregon County Folk
To Leave Missouri

THAYER (AP) — The Thayer Chamber of Commerce reported today the prolonged drought is forcing many families to leave Oregon County in southern Missouri and asked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to investigate the situation.

The organization wired Benson that farmers are being forced to sacrifice beef and dairy herds, "the life blood of this year."

Pastures are burned up and there is a critical shortage of water and feed, with farmers needing immediate financial help, the telegram said.

Copies of the telegram also went to Gov. Donnelly, Chairman Murray Colbert of the state Drought Committee, and Missouri congressmen.

Earlier Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) said Benson had promised to investigate complaints of confusion in the government's drought-relief program and delays in the sale of government grain to drought-stricken farmers in the state.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Kindergarten Protest

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A protest movement has started here against the Government plan to cancel the free "Compulsory Kindergarten" for five year olds. The Minister of Finance believes that the cut would mean a considerable saving on teachers' salaries hitherto paid by the State.

A "Save the Kindergarten Committee" representing 10,000 parents and 103 kindergartens has been set up to convince the Government of the social disadvantages that would be caused by the closing of the "Compulsory Kindergarten" probably forcing children back on the streets as many parents couldn't afford the fees demanded in private kindergartens.

South Abell Club Elects New Officers

Election of officers for the coming year was held at the meeting of the South Abell Extension Club when it met with Mrs. R. D. Erwin. Mrs. Teal Tickam assisted the hostess in serving dinner to 16 members and one guest, Mrs. Margaret Rhodes.

Officers are as follows: Mrs. John Rundlett, president; Mrs. R. D. Erwin, vice president; Mrs. E. E. Barriok, secretary; Mrs. Emmett Bohon Jr., reporter; Mrs. Ralph Thomas, song leader, and Mrs. John Cromley, game leader.

A discussion of the merits of various kinds of handicraft projects as compared with clothing, food and nutrition was held. Members decided that each project was a necessity in a well rounded life and displayed a special interest in leather craft as an activity at a future date.

A medical practice now outdated will be the topic of roll call at the Oct. 14 meeting. Mrs. Harry Kehl will be hostess.

Merry-Go-Round

Truman Gave Stephenson Sage Advice At Demo's Parley

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The most important thing that happened backstage at the Chicago Democratic powwow was a fatherly pep talk which Harry S. Truman, ex-President, gave Adlai Stevenson, would-be-president. At it Harry, the old bare-fisted political slugger, urged Adlai the cultured appealer-to-reason to get in there and pitch.

The talk occurred at an extremely private dinner before other Democratic bigwigs reached the windy city.

Hitherto, Stephenson has been somewhat ill at ease with Truman. At times during the campaign last year he was irked and irritated at the way Harry insisted upon making his administration the most important issue.

Truman in turn had been needed by some of the old palace guard, notably Matt Connelly, against Stephenson. They talked as equals and seemed to get along this time perfectly, however, even though Truman talked like a Dutch uncle.

"It's your turn at the wheel," the ex-President told the would-be President, "and I want you to take it."

"Leadership can't wait. The party needs it now and you've got to step in and take it," Truman urged. "A political party doesn't run itself. It has to be given direction, its policies have to be shaped. And you can't stand back and wait until you've made up your mind what you want to do. There's been enough of this dignified acquiescence."

At one point in the discussion Stephenson expressed doubt that he could be elected. He said he wasn't sure he had all the qualifications necessary for the presidency.

"Aw, listen," replied the frank and impulsive ex-President, "if a knuckle-head like me could get elected and make a go of it, you wouldn't have any trouble at all."

A friend of Stephenson's predicted that as a result of the Truman pep talk he would take some forthright steps as leader of the Democratic party.

Democratic Grows

The old gang-up against Sen. Estes Kefauver which took place in Chicago a year ago was apparent again the other night. Though Senator "Daniel Boone," as he's now called by many Democratic politicians, rolled up the biggest primary vote of any candidate last year, he was barred by the palace guard this week from any prominent part in the Chicago festivities.

Speaker after speaker, some of them inconsequential, popped up to the rostrum in a program that dragged beyond the endurance of most loyal Democrats, but Kefauver, who had made the mistake of arousing Truman's bitter enmity, was not among them. Even when the honored guests were introduced, toastmaster Senator Gillette carefully repeated to the audience that they were not to applaud until all speakers were introduced. He made this remark just before introducing the senator from Tennessee.

There was also Democratic resentment against Steve Mitchell, youngish, well-meaning national chairman. Mitchell has rubbed a lot of Democratic stalwarts the wrong way, some, such as Fulbright of Arkansas, so that they won't even speak to him.

In preparing the Chicago dinner, Mitchell completely ignored Col. Jake Arvey, the man who first picked Adlai Stevenson to run for governor of Illinois. Finally, after Mitchell got into trouble with his chairman, he went to Arvey.

"You've made your choice—go ahead with it," Arvey told him.

If it wasn't generally known that Mitchell was bowing out as chairman shortly, the Democratic National Committee would have asked this week to hasten his bow.

They're Just Small, But—

It may be a long time before anything happens in the Soviet world to equal the force of the June 17 East German riots in countering Russian propaganda. The elaborately contrived image of the workers' paradise dissolved in dust, for men presumably do not revolt in Heaven.

Yet, big as that event was, it has not eclipsed the smaller incidents which go on occurring almost daily in proof of this same Soviet fraud. These lesser events provide a kind of very satisfaction that free men everywhere ought not to miss.

There was the case of the steamroller operator paving a road near a satellite country's border. He told border guards he couldn't turn his machine round in a tight loop and would have to take it over a bridge to swing about. The bridge led to freedom. He steered the roller across and never turned back. A more improbable getaway vehicle would be hard to imagine.

Now a Polish member of the neutral nations' inspection team in Korea has walked off to freedom. About to enter a Communist plane headed back to North Korea, he suddenly wheeled and sped to the safety of American protection. The door had opened just a small crack, but he slipped through.

Not-So-Hidden Meanings

Two new expressions have been added to the Washington vocabulary recently, but neither one owes its origin to government gobbledegook.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce has coined the word "reprivatize." It's supposed to mean turning government-owned power projects, public lands or tideland oil rights back to private industry. It is the opposite of "federalize," meaning to put under government control.

Washington's high school set has produced the other gem. Whenever a teen-ager pulls something extremely corny, classmates exclaim, "Man, that's really 'congressional.'"

Scientists have succeeded in crystallizing boiling mixtures of silicon, potassium, sodium, and aluminum to produce minute amounts of material which cannot be distinguished from the purest sort of granite under a microscope.

Governor Warren's Influence On U. S. Politics Is Healthy

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

With his announcement that he would not run next year a fourth term, Gov. Earl Warren of California puts an ending mark on one major phase of his remarkable political career.

No other man in California history can match his record of being elected governor three times. But that bare fact hardly measures the accomplishment.

Warren won this office in a state that normally has a 3 to 2 Democratic edge in registration. Against this handicap he triumphed spectacularly. In 1946, bidding for his second term, he captured both the Republican and Democratic nominations at primary time, a feat possible under California's unique cross-filing system. In 1950, he smothered his Democratic adversary, James Roosevelt, by 1,100,000 votes.

From the moment he took the governor's chair, Warren fought for progressive policies. He battled the seekers of special privilege, and adhered rigidly to his high standards of honesty in public service.

Inevitably this course of action earned him enemies. Strong elements of his own party branded him a "New Dealer" and a "me-tooer." He sometimes retorted by quoting national GOP platforms in support of his policies. But that did not lessen the opposition.

That opposition perhaps reached its peak in 1952, when half a million votes were mustered in the California presidential primary against a slate of delegates pledged to support him for President.

But it was far wide of the mark to conclude, as some did, that all regular Republicans opposed Warren. On the contrary, a large share were with him. They might disagree with some of his views. Yet they deeply admired his integrity and his quality as an administrator.

More than that, they recognized that it probably required a Republican of Warren's leanings to get elected to the governorship in a state with California's political complexion. Realistically, they understood that their party's long control not only of the executive mansion but of the legislature was founded on Warren's broad, nonpartisan appeal.

Probably no politician ever had less use for the psychiatrist's couch. Ambition drives him, but it does not consume him. He wanted the presidency, but not getting it did not break his heart or warp him. He would like to have served until death as California's governor, but he could say:

"This decision (not to run) is based upon my firm belief that periodic change of administration is essential to the continued health of our representative form of government."

With this kind of character always at work, Warren has been a tremendously healthy influence upon American politics in recent decades. This is so thoroughly recognized in high places that he seems certainly destined to be called on to serve in other commanding roles in the years still ahead of him.

Most Headaches Caused By Increased Blood Flow

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A splitting headache often arrives at the most inconvenient times. Although a "headache" serves as one of the world's best excuses for getting out of some engagement, the real thing is exceedingly unpleasant.

Headache is a strange thing. There are reasons for believing in most, if not all, there is increased blood flowing through the blood vessels of the brain during a headache and this increases the hard, bony skull. Certainly most of them feel that way!

Why this happens in some people and at some times is hard to figure out. There seem to be several reasons which can bring this about.

Undoubtedly worry or some other kind of nervous strain can bring on headache in many people. While a headache can sometimes be traced to eyestrain, sinus trouble or an upset stomach, the nervous origin of many headaches is the most important.

One man had a quarrel with his partner about twice a year and a day later he would invariably be prostrated by a severe headache. A mother always developed a bad attack whenever her daughter stayed out in the evening longer than the mother thought wise!

This sort of thing goes on all the time and furnishes good evidence of the close relation between worry, anger, or other emotions and many headaches.

However, many headaches are considered to be of the migraine type which are partly hereditary and partly the result of the stress and strain of modern life. Even many of those which are not classified as migraine come on after a difficult conference, a quarrel or something else which interferes with the calm life.

Everyone Has Headaches
The occasional headache is something that almost everyone experiences, but the frequently repeated attack cannot be ignored. If it can be traced to some definite physical cause the underlying difficulty can often be corrected.

Some physicians who have studied this subject intensively believe many headache victims have a driving personality, are particularly ambitious and keep pushing themselves long after they should let down on their activities. These people find it hard to let others do some of the work and keep themselves always tense and anxious.

The World Today—Russia Keeps Atoms In Front

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Twice now within a month—and both times when the United Nations was in session, considering the Korean peace conference—the Russians have announced new atomic explosions.

This might have been coincidence. But, since the Russians know the value of psychological shock and could pick any day for their announcements, they can be assumed to have deliberately picked their time:

1. Perhaps to frighten the non-Communist U.N. members, when they were all together in New York, with news of Russia's developing ability to make atomic war. One of the announcements involved hydrogen bomb-making.

2. Through fear, to make these U.N. members generally less willing to back Russia and particularly Russia's idea of how the Korean peace conference should be held and who should take part.

The Eisenhower administration, although taking due note of Russia's hydrogen progress, apparently hasn't been softened a little bit in its hard attitude toward Russia.

Yesterday at the U.N., just a few hours before Russia's latest atomic announcement, Secretary of State Dulles lashed into Moscow with a major foreign policy speech. It was hardly more than a repetition of a speech made five months ago before there was any news of Russia's hydrogen progress.

On Aug. 17, the U.N. General Assembly met in special session to choose its representatives to the Korean peace conference, with the United States insisting that if Russia was permitted at the peace conference it would have to be as a guest of the Communists, not on the U.N. side.

On Aug. 19, in the midst of the U.N. argument, Moscow announced it had achieved a hydrogen explosion.

The United States Atomic Energy Commission immediately confirmed the Russian explosion with the statement it had occurred Aug. 12. Moscow did not explain why it waited from Aug. 12 to Aug. 19 to make the news known.

On Aug. 23 the Russians had more atomic explosions. This was made known on Aug. 31 by the Atomic Energy Commission. Russia said nothing.

On Sept. 14 last Monday, the U.N. General Assembly, which had ended its special session in late August, came back into regular session. Once more it tangled over the Korean peace conference, with the Communists demanding:

That the Assembly reverse what it did in August—it upheld the United States position then—and let neutral nations and Russia sit in on the peace conference.

On Sept. 18 last night, Moscow announced more atomic explosions.

probably the ones which the AEC said on Aug. 31 had occurred on Aug. 23. Moscow did not claim these latest explosions were of the hydrogen kind.

Five months ago, on April 16, Eisenhower, speaking for a government which had become exasperated with hearing Moscow talk of peace which it was blocking, expressed this country's policy on working out peace with Russia.

What he said, if summarized in diplomatic language, would be this: put up or shut up.

He phrased it more politely. He said this country would take Russian peace talk seriously when Moscow showed it wanted peace by giving proof, in deeds.

He gave a list of deeds he said would show Russian good faith: a Korean armistice and peace conference; unification of Germany; a peace treaty for Austria; and others.

Since April the Communists have met only one of Eisenhower's terms: they agreed to an armistice in Korea. But at this moment it is uncertain whether they will permit even the next step: a Korean peace conference.

Yesterday, in his speech to the U.N., restating what Eisenhower had said in April, Dulles simply told the Russians that five months have not softened the American attitude toward Moscow.

He talked for 37 minutes. What he said could be boiled down to five words: put up or shut up.

National Guard Subject of Talk At Kiwanis Club

"The National Guard—What It Means To A Community and Its Young Men," was the subject of a talk by Lieut. Col. Robert Holt, Missouri National Guard instructor, speaking before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Edward R. Sims, program chairman. He outlined the organization and program of the national guard and what it offers young men in training and opportunities over and above the pay received. The two units in Sedalia have an annual payroll of $80,000.

Col. Holt, who served in World War II and in the Korean conflict, responded to numerous questions from Kiwanians concerning the warfare in the latter country.

Guests were: Kiwanian Hobart Hill, Marshall; Kiwanian Albert F. Summers, Jefferson City; and Major Len Burridge, Jefferson City, with Major Aaserude.

Suzanne Lenglen, in 1926, was the first woman tennis player to become a professional.

by Margaret Millar

Copyright 1952 by Margaret Millar. Used by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

MRS. HILLER was not at her desk but her name card was: Evangeline Hiller. It was a new and elaborate name card in a blue plastic container. The rest of the office seemed shabby by comparison.

The door marked John J. Goodfield opened suddenly and Mrs. Hiller plunged into the room with the reluctant thrust of a diver plunging into cold water. Her body, wrapped in a tight silk jersey dress, was mature and full-blown. Above the shoulders she looked young and surprised as if she couldn't understand what in the world had happened below.

She addressed Frank in a voice that sounded much too genteel. "If you wish to speak to Mr. Goodfield, sir, I'm afraid he just stepped out a moment ago."

"When will he be back?" "Oh, he won't be back. Today, I mean. He had an urgent call. Mrs. Hiller swallowed hard, her whole throat convulsing. "Somebody got sick. A friend of Jack's—Mr. Goodfield's."

"And Mr. Goodfield went to soothe the fevered brow?" "Sure he did, I guess." Mrs. Hiller's gentility had vanished.

From inside the office came a soft sound like the drawer of a desk or a filing cabinet sliding into place. She clutched at her throat as if she was choking, and said loudly:

"Jack—Mr. Goodfield will be terribly sorry to've missed you." "He doesn't know me."

"Well, he—he—just hates to miss people. Anyone." "A friendly type, eh?" "Oh yes, very. Now if you'll just leave your name, I'll make sure that he finds out you were here."

"My name's Frank Clyde." "And your business?" "I'm a social worker."

"A—social worker?" Mrs. Hiller's mouth gaped like a hungry carp's. "Oh, I don't believe it."

"Why shouldn't you believe it?" "What would a social worker have to do with Jack? Jack's a millionaire."

Frank spoke in a friendly, reasonable way as if he was addressing a strange child. "Does this look like a millionaire's office to you?"

The girl glanced around the tiny room, biting the edge of her lower lip. "Well, gee, I don't know, I never saw a millionaire's office before."

"Have you ever seen any office before?" "What do you mean by that? I'm a private secretary. I took a course. So don't go making any crumbly remarks about me being a birdbrain. I'm sick of being called a birdbrain by a lot of other birdbrains."

"I didn't call you anything. I just wondered if this was your first job."

Mrs. Hiller held the pose. "Don't you go social-working me, I don't need any."

FRANK let himself out through the gate and walked down the driveway, the wall of fog moving always a little ahead of him in a tantalizing way. Before he reached the street a man's figure appeared suddenly out of the fog.

It was Charley. He was shivering with cold and his leather jacket and peaked cap were dripping wet, but he had a funny little grin on his face.

"You find Mr. Jack, buddy?" "No."

"Want to know why not? He took a powder. Jumped into that convertible of his and beat it like he was shot out of a cannon. Which it's too bad he wasn't. Now I just wonder why he left so suddenly, don't you?"

"Yes."

"While you were inside there" good behavior and to watch their table manners.

The mother was amazed at the wonderful way they behaved. They had never in their lives been so good, their table manners were just perfect and everything was going along smoothly. Then suddenly the younger of the two raised up in her chair, peeped around the guest and looked in the kitchen, then she sat back down. A few minutes later she raised up in her chair again, peering around the guest and had another look in the kitchen. Then it came — "Mama," she said, "there's a mouse running across the stove."

The mother nearly fainted, the important guest pretended not to hear, and the little girl who had done her duty by telling her mother about the mouse sat back down in the chair and finished her dinner. — H. L.

The daughter came home from work to find that her mother had cooked some red pinto beans.

"Oh, good," she said. "I'm so glad we're going to have those beans," and the mother knew she was because that was what she had been wanting for several days.

The pork chops were all ready, the mother fixed the potatoes while the daughter sliced the tomatoes and they put dinner on the table. They finished eating and then went into the kitchen to wash the dishes. The daughter looked toward the stove and there were the beans—those beans she had been wanting—still in the pan. Neither of them had thought to take up the beans and neither of them had missed them at the meal.

Democrat Pick-Ups

Odds and Ends By News Staff

The two young couples were going to have dinner together at the home of one of them and it was to be an Italian dinner featuring spaghetti.

The table was all set pretty with candles and just as they started to sit down the hostess had thought it would be nice to eat by candlelight — it would give a little more atmosphere to the dinner. The rest agreed they thought so, too. So they turned the dining room light out, and there was soft music from the radio in the next room. It was really cozy and nice, of course there were lights in the kitchen and living room, but the only glow in the dining room was from the candles.

About that time a young boy shot an arrow in the air and it wasn't like the arrow in the poem, it didn't drop to earth. It dropped on the light wires and knocked out the electricity in that part of the city.

That idea of eating by candlelight was really an inspiration. The lights went out in the kitchen and in the living room, but the young people didn't care at all. It wasn't going to cramp their style at dinner, they were eating by candlelight. The little candles glowed even brighter in the total darkness and it was really a festive affair — all but the music. When the power went off so did the radio, but they weren't going to be outdone. They were still going to have music with their dinner. They got out the old time Victrola and records and had their music. Of course they had to keep winding it all the time and often the thing would stick and the singer would keep singing the same line of a verse over and over until they had the pieces they liked best and they had fun. It was a real event and even as the girls washed the dishes the boys entertained them with music, music by the old fashioned Victrola.

I gave you a little figuring-out in my head. You're a policeman, aren't you?"

Frank was vaguely flattered. He had no idea that he looked in the least authoritative or official. "No, I'm not."

Charley seemed disappointed. "I was hoping maybe you'd come to pick up Evangeline and take her to a detention home. Evangeline." He spit on the sidewalk vigorously. "Wiggles her hips in and out that gate 20 times a day. Gotta go down to the drugstore for coffee, she says. Or gotta have her hair done. Or go shopping. If Mrs. Goodfield knew what was going on, she'd have a stroke."

WHAT Charley had called the old Goodfield mansion may have been a mansion once but now it was curiously dwarfed by the apartment houses that towered above it on each side. It still had its distinction, though—two patches of lawn like green scatter rugs, and, flanking the sidewalks and front steps, a band of more potted plants of all colors and all sizes. They lent an air of welcome to the forbidding Gothic door.

The heavy door opened inward two or three inches and a woman spoke through the crack. "Who is it, please?"

"Miss Goodfield? I'm Frank Clyde."

The woman laughed. In contrast to her voice, which sounded tired, her laugh was gay and full of genuine amusement.

"I'm Shirley Gunnison, the Miss Goodfield-but-was, as a maid of ours used to say." She mentioned the maid with intentional casualness as if to make it clear that she hadn't always had to answer the door herself. "If you're working your way through college, don't count on me to help."

"I worked my way through college some time ago."

"Selling subscriptions?" "Dividing for alabone."

There was a pause. Then, "Well, that's different. Come in. I don't want to buy any old abalones, however."

Grim Regime Provided In Prison For Reporter Trapped By Reds

AP Artist John A. Carlton sketches scene as William N. Oatis faced judges in Czech court on espionage charges.

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

(ADVANCE) I spent more than 24 months, from the spring of 1951 to the spring of 1953, in Ruzyně Prison near Prague, Czechoslovakia. All that time I lived in a cell.

I was arrested while serving as an Associated Press foreign correspondent. I was accused of espionage, convicted and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. I got out in less time on a pardon.

In retrospect, the weeks and months seem to have gone by fast. That is because the prisoner remembers little that happened in them — because they were empty. This very emptiness makes each day seem to go by so slowly. I used to wake to the guard's reveille call, and think, "It is 16 hours till I can sleep again; how can I ever pass that time?"

It was as if I had just fallen to the bottom of a deep well and must swim upward and upward, holding my breath, to save my life.

Dreams
In a cell a man lives while he is asleep; while he is awake, he only exists. In dreams he lives the life he cannot live in reality. I dreamed of buying newspapers, walking the streets, riding trains, eating in restaurants, talking with my wife and friends.

Time goes most slowly when the prisoner is alone in his cell, because then he has only his own mind to help him fight time, and his mind is likely to play him false and turn to his fate. If he has a cellmate, he has the strength of two in the fight, because he has another's resources as well as his own.

I was alone only about three months in Ruzyně. But I knew one man that had spent more than nine months in solitary confinement, and another that had been waiting more than two years for trial, alone or with a companion.

I had seven cellmates, one after another: two Czechs, two Moravians, a Slovak, a Slovakian Jew and an Austrian. They ranged in age from the 20s to the 60s — two mechanical engineers, a clerk, a priest, a policeman, an army officer and a politician.

The long day began with reveille around 5:30 a. m. and ended with taps around 9:30. In between, every incident, however routine, was a milestone; it meant that a certain amount of time was past, and the prisoner was that much nearer bedtime.

We dressed, folded our blankets, washed in cold water with coarse laundry soap and had breakfast. We waited for the mid-morning sandwich, given to the skinnier prisoners like me. It came, and we waited for lunch. That came, and we waited for the mid-afternoon sandwich. Then there was supper, and then there were three hours to bedtime.

The Menu
A meal was always a notable event. It meant time was past, and we listened eagerly for the sounds that told us that inmates from a nearby labor camp were shuffling down our hall, setting food outside each door.

There was always the fascinating question of what was coming for lunch.

Each mealtime, a guard opened the cell door so we could take the food in. Each inmate got a small double boiler full, with liquid below and solid above.

Breakfast was always a chunk of coarse rye bread with a coffee substitute, probably made from roasted grain. Lunch included soup, usually excellent, and mashed potatoes with gravy, spinach, cabbage, suerkraut or carrots on top, or else heavy Czech dumplings with gravy. Supper might be potatoes, rice or boiled pearl barley, this last a tasteless dish that many prisoners flushed down the toilet.

A time or two during the week we got bits of canned meat-parts of the animal that should have been thrown away — in our gravy. There was an honest-to-goodness slice of meat on Sundays or holidays. Sometimes it was good roast pork, sometimes tough, dry boiled beef. Now and then we got fresh lettuce, often with a dividend of sand. The food was not elegant, but it was usually tasty and filling.

Recreation
Between meals, we found a few things to pass the time. From my cellmates, I learned a little Czech and Slovak and a few words of Russian, Hungarian, Hebrew and Arabic. I spoke rudimentary French with the priest, and taught him English.

We sang songs in several languages. The politician taught me "Dark Eyes" in Russian, and I taught him "Dinah," "Me and My Shadow" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" in English.

We played questions — and answers. We drew a chess — and checker board of toilet paper and kneaded figures out of rye bread, which is as hard as rock when it dries.

The priest colored the "red" chessmen with toothpaste. That gave us two more games to play.

We got books in Czech and Slovak, at the rate of one or two a week, from the prison library. They were mostly propaganda novels.

I got three parcels of books in English — from my wife, from the U. S. Embassy and from the AP — novels, plays, poetry and writings on music and science. And I got some Soviet publications in English — Gorki, Dickens, Howard Fast and some propaganda magazines — from my referent. So we had something to read.

In January, 1952, I started writing songs — one-voice melodies with words — on toilet paper. Before I got out I wrote more than 400 songs, three verses and numerous skits. (Don't look for any of these at your music store.) We looked forward to the scheduled events of each week: The buying of cigarettes, candy, cookies and fruit from a prison officer who took orders at the cell door and delivered the goods a few days later; the arrival of clean, unbleached — muslin underwear from the prison laundry (we got a change of our tan burlap uniforms only when they began showing dirt or holes.)

Outside Trips

There were shower baths about every two weeks, trips to the doctor's or dentist's office as needed. (The dentist filled numerous cavities in my teeth. The doctor put me in the prison hospital with what was diagnosed as tuberculosis.)

There were, on rare occasions, walks in the prison courtyard. And there were, for me, five automobile trips to Prague, when I eagerly drank in all the sights of streets and houses and people and trees and grass and sunshine and sky and space that I missed in my cell.

The first time, I went to Pankrac Prison to testify at a trial of a group of Czechs accused of espionage and linked through a devious web with my case. The police made it clear how I was to testify. That was in March, 1952.

Six weeks later I was taken to the downtown police station to meet U. S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs. (Only then did I learn that the police had been wrong when they told me, "The American Embassy is doing nothing for you.")

Hands Outside

There was a visit the following October with another embassy man, Charge D'Affaires Nat. P. King, and a trip to a hospital for a physical examination some five months after that. I had a second visit with King only two days before my release. (Neither of us knew then that I was about to be freed.)

Incidents like that were rare breaks in the monotony. In the cell there always came a time when we ran out of things to do, and there we were again, pacing the floor and waiting for bedtime.

There was a rule, probably intended to prevent suicides, that every prisoner, unless specifically excused from doing so, must sleep with his hands outside his blankets. (As a frail — looking foreigner trusted not to do himself in, I got an excuse.)

A few of the guards, especially the younger and newer ones, enforced this to the letter. While a prisoner sleeps, he is likely to pull his hands under the covers almost by habit. And when my cellmate did so, such guards banged on the door, "Hands outside the blankets!"

And then we were both awake, and back in prison. And then we went back to sleep, and pretty soon again we heard the same cry, at our own door or somewhere down the hall. On nights like that, nobody slept right.

Through every night, the electric light burned overhead. Every few minutes a guard looked through a peephole in the door. If he was the right kind of guard, we slept in spite of all that. But always there came the down, and there was another day to get through — 16 hours — 960 minutes — 57,600 seconds. That way, I struggled through two years.

Shortly before midnight May 15, 1953, a guard awoke me and took me before a secret police officer. The officer told me that President Antonin Zapotocky, acting on a letter from my wife in St. Paul, Minn., had forgiven the rest of my sentence. The next morning at 9:30, I left the prison for the last time. And less than six hours later an American Embassy car carried me out of Czechoslovakia.

Indian Medicine Loses Its 'Hex' On Sooner Lake

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—That old Indian medicine apparently has lost its kick.

An ancient Indian curse, which is supposed to prevent fish from biting and ducks from landing on Oklahoma City's two municipal lakes, has proved as potent as one of Salesman Sam's old cure-alls. The redskins hexed the lake Monday.

But a few city sportsman have become jittery. Elmer Davis, the bait concessionaire at Lake Hefner, philosophized:

"There's been a lot of cutting up about it. It's not hard to work on a superstition to fishermen. But at least, now if they don't have any luck they have something to lay it onto."

The Indians war-whopped and tom-tommed at Canton, 100 miles northwest of Oklahoma City, protesting the release of Canton reservoir water for Oklahoma City use. The redskins broke a peace chant and Chief Henry Spotted Crow chanted the ancient hexing psalm.

Davis said from 400-500 ducks landed on the lake yesterday, apparently unaware of the curse. "But," said Davis, "I had a guy come in here yesterday who was worried. He said maybe by the time the season opens the ducks won't be there."

Fishing at Lake Hefner and Lake Overholser was described as past few days.

Chief Bennie Spotted Wolf summed up the Indians' attitude this way:

"We were promised the right to hunt and fish free as long as water here is free, but you pay to fish and hunt in Oklahoma City's lake. They spoil our hunting and fishing grounds to make theirs better."

And there was another day to get through — 16 hours — 960 minutes — 57,600 seconds. That way, I struggled through two years.

Shortly before midnight May 15, 1953, a guard awoke me and took me before a secret police officer. The officer told me that President Antonin Zapotocky, acting on a letter from my wife in St. Paul, Minn., had forgiven the rest of my sentence. The next morning at 9:30, I left the prison for the last time. And less than six hours later an American Embassy car carried me out of Czechoslovakia.

Husbands Can Get In Doghouse By Talking or Keeping Still

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It is the easiest thing in the world for a married man to get into the doghouse at home.

All he has to do is open his big mouth, put his big foot in it and—Presto! He's in the doghouse. And generally without understanding how it happened.

On the other hand he can keep his mouth shut tighter than a clam at low tide and still find himself in the doghouse. For a doghouse has many entrances. You can get in one almost as easy by not saying what your wife wants you to say, as you can by saying something she doesn't want to hear.

There are some situations in which even the most cunning husband cannot duck entrapment in the doghouse. Neither silence, lying nor honesty will help him out.

Take, for one example, the case of a wife who brings home a new hat which she knows in her heart she ought to take back to the store but which she can't quite make up her mind to do. This is a typical case, as 90 out of 100 times the average wife decides to buy a new hat she isn't going to settle for the first one she carts home.

But somebody is going to pay for her indecision, and what victim is handier than the husband? So she straps on her new bonnet and asks gaily:

"How do you like it, dear. Is it for me?"

The poor husband is caught in the following three-way wringer:

1. Suppose he tells the truth and says, "Well, honey, of course it looks like a toadstool dripping a broken egg, or a rainbow with fallen arches, leaning on a foot rest."

He is deep in the doghouse because he has committed the gravest of all matrimonial errors. He is a husband who can tell at first sight a fashion that is wrong for his wife, something she herself is never quite sure of. This makes her uneasy, because it may indicate he actually might understand her, too, something no wife can forgive a man.

2. Suppose he lies like the peace-yearning cad he probably is and says cautiously, "My pet, that hat fits you like a glove. No other woman but you could bring out its...its...er...its hidden qualities."

This puts him in the doghouse because she thinks either he hasn't really looked at the hat or else, "Maybe the old fool is right, no, he can't be. I know the hat is horrible."

3. Suppose he just looks silently at her in dumb confusion, knowing no more which way to escape than a worm in a revolving door. Well, he's in the doghouse for not helping her make up her mind about the hat. It makes no difference that she already really knows what she is going to do. Doesn't the man have a mind of

Tigers To Play Kemper

Eight Seniors, Two Juniors and One Sophomore to Start Game for Sedalia

Tonight over at Boonville the Smith-Cotton High School Tigers get their first real taste of the 1953 football competition when they meet the Kemper Military Academy High School team in the opening game of the Central Missouri Conference. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Tigers still a little rough around the edges, are all set for the test on the practice sessions conducted these three weeks. The players are all in excellent condition with the exception of a few bruises here and there and should provide a victory for Sedalia.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow in announcing his lineup was anything but down in the dumps. Dow kept talking about his light line and backfield, but overshadowed this talk with the morale of the team, of the spirit of the boys and their desire to win.

"I'll tell you more about what we have after tonight's game," Dow reported, "but right now I think we will give all our opponents a hard way to go, because am confident these boys this year will go 'all-the-way' and won't let up for one minute."

The team tonight is being co-captained by Elroy Burton in the backfield and Lanny Crouch on the line. Burton is taking over at right half back while Crouch will be in the right tackle slot in the line.

Signals will be called by Richard "Buck" Bennett at quarterback while Larry Lynch at full back and Bobby Case in left half back position round out the backfield starters.

The Tigers haven't been built around any one star while the nucleus is around the 11 returning lettermen. Tonight's starting eleven consists of eight seniors, two juniors and one sophomore.

The test with Kemper will decide greatly the lineup of Smith-Cotton for the remainder of the season. However, Coach Dow has stated he will constantly make changes where a boy in the lower ranks proves to be coming along better than any on the Varsity squad. It will be necessary for all boys to keep battling to hold their

Hickman Gains Tie on 90-Yard Runback of Pass

Hickman High Kewpies of Columbia were the only Smith-Cotton High opponents to see action Thursday night in the football world, and they gained a 7-7 tie with the Kirkville High Bulldogs at Kirkville.

Kirkville had 12 first downs to Columbia's 3 and gained 226 yards rushing to the Kewpies but Columbia got 12 yards by passes to none for the winners.

Kirkville scored in the second quarter when Lehr went 13 yards off left tackle and then ran over for the extra point. Columbia's score was in the same period, being made as Olds intercepted a pass and ran 90 yards. Martin kicked the extra point.

Last year's standing in the Central Missouri Conference, which had a three way tie for the title, were as follows:

	W. L. T.	Pts.	Opp.
Columbia	4 1 0	116	37
Kirkville	3 2 1	91	37
Jefferson City	4 1 0	98	27
Sedalia	2 3 0	46	85
Kemper	1 0 0	25	39
Hannibal	0 5 0	7	131

40 Maryland Terps Head for Missouri

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (P)—Forty young men and their tutors pulled out of here today to represent Maryland in its first 1953 football game against the Missouri Tigers.

Coach Jim Tatum publicly expressed apprehension over the outcome of the Saturday contest.

"We're just not prepared for a team like Missouri," he said as he led the Terrapins to Washington for the start of their airplane trip west.

The Terps are shooting to keep intact Tatum's record of never having coached a team which lost to Missouri.

positions and standing on the varsity.

"We have some mighty fine boys in the 'B' section who have been taking some mighty hard bumps these last two weeks in practice and if they continue to improve like they have in the three weeks of practice—some new faces may be seen on the Varsity from time to time," Dow reported.

The next game will be the opener on the new gridiron at the Jerny Jaynes Lewis Memorial Stadium at Liberty Park. That's with Joplin High School. This will not be the dedication game as previously announced, the dedication being postponed until the stadium has been completed.

Schlitz Leaders Play Meadow Gold Tonight

The Schlitz Leaders will meet the Meadow Gold soft ballers on the Housel Park diamond at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Tommy Sanders has been elected to pitch for the Leaders, while the "Gold" hurler has not yet been announced.

Yesterday's Games--Dressen Sees Yankees Lose; Looks to Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees haven't fooled Charley Dressen by losing one game to Cleveland and two out of three to the St. Louis Browns under his watchful eyes.

The Brooklyn manager, who has been doing some personal World Series scouting from a Yankee Stadium box near home plate, declared today:

"They look about the same as last year."

As for his own ball club, Dressen said:

"I think we're better than last year."

But he added quickly:

"I don't say we're going to win. But if we can put the same fellows on the field we were using a couple of weeks ago and if we can get the pitching, I think we're better than they are."

A year ago the Yankees beat the Dodgers in a seven game series.

With Dressen in the stands the American League champions bowed 1-0 to Bob Lemon of Cleveland, split a twin bill with the Browns, losing 5-3 and winning 3-2, and lost to the Browns yesterday 7-1.

Against the Browns Casey Stengel used a flock of his Yankee second stringers.

"Our scouts don't get to see them very often," Dressen observed, "I was glad to get the chance. It looks to me like (Allie) Reynolds and (Ed) Lopat were taking it easy, just getting in some work."

Dressen said he understood that Johnny Podres, one of his young pitchers who has been injured, was fit again and said he was going to see Carl Furillo on Saturday. Furillo, the league's leading hitter, has been out of action for two weeks with a broken finger.

"He's been working out," Dressen said. "He had some new X-ray pictures taken to see how it's healing and we'll talk things over Saturday."

Because of his self-imposed scouting duties, Dressen wasn't on hand to see his club win its 100th game of the season in St. Louis yesterday. A three-run ninth inning gave Carl Erskine his 20th victory by a 4-3 margin as Wayne Belardi singled home the tying and winning runs.

No national league club has won 100 since the 1944 Cardinals. The last team in either league to win that many was the Boston Red Sox of 1946.

The Dodgers of 1942 won 104 and finished second.

In other action yesterday the Red Sox edged Detroit 2-1, Washington shaded Chicago 3-2 and Cleveland beat Philadelphia for the 19th time this year, 5-4, in the American League. Philadelphia smothered Chicago 16-4 in the National. Ted Williams belted his 13th home run with a man aboard in the eighth inning for Boston's victory.

Bob Porterfield of the Senators, who had won a total of 20 games in five major league seasons up to the start of the present campaign, became the first Washington pitcher in 20 years to win 21 games in one year.

Clarksburg Driver Wins at Boonville

BOONVILLE — Jud Larson of Kansas City swept top honors in the Veterans of Foreign Wars stock car races here last night, taking the quarter-mile time trial in 0:22.3, the trophy dash in 1:49.2, the fast 10-lap heat in 3:58, and the 25-lap feature in 9:55.1.

Winners of other heats were John Dwyer of Columbia and Woody Carpenter of Clarksburg with Owen Aleshire of Moberly winning the 12-lap consolation in 4:58.1.

Eighteen drivers were entered, others being from Malta Bend, Elm, Jefferson City, Marshall, Boonville and Sedalia.

Casey and Dressen Unlike Except for Liking to Talk

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (P)—Except that they both like to talk and stay up late in convivial company, Casey Stengel and Charley Dressen probably are as dissimilar a pair of World Series managers as ever matched brain waves in the autumn classic.

Fact is, they don't even talk alike. Dressen, the cocky little pilot of the Dodgers, talks plain American for the most part, leaning heavily on the personal pronoun. Earnest men seeking information have conversed with Casey for upward of four hours and afterward have been found wandering in a dazed condition.

Dressen is a natural born gambler who almost never gambles on the ball field. He plays it by the book—the sacrifice, the stolen base, the hit-and-run. By comparison, his veteran opponent runs the Yankees more or less by ear, shunning the conventional and obeying his hunches, even if it means tossing a lefthander into the breach against a lineup packed with righthanded power, as he did in the final game of last year's play-off.

Casey does his master-minding strictly from the bench whereas Chuck is out there in the third-base coaching box, directing traffic and stealing signals like mad. Casey believes in delegating authority. Jim Turner, his pitching coach, has the last word in rotating the staff, though he may smilingly deny it. Bill Dickey and Frankie Crosetti, two former Yankee greats, coach the catchers and infielders, respectively, and Stengel listens to them.

Dressen's three coaches—Cookie Lavagetto, Billy Herman and Jake Pitler—all are former infielders. Charlie is his own pitching coach, though he never threw a curve in his infielding career, and he takes great pride in shuffling his staff about. Charlie is the complete boss of his little empire, and he leaves no one in doubt about it. If any mistakes are to be made, he'll make 'em, and he is equally ready to take credit when he feels it is due.

Where Stengel is famed for his dizzy line-up changes virtually from game to game, the Dodgers' manager is of the old school which believes in finding an effective batting array and sticking with it, from leadoff man right down to pitcher. Dressen isn't afraid to shift his stars about on the field, as witness his conversion of Jackie Robinson into an outfielder this season, but he wants them to hit in a set pattern.

When a game is over and the reporters gather round to get the inside dope on what happened in a given situation, they note that Dressen is inclined to project himself into the picture, perhaps tell of the snap decision he made at a telling juncture.

Stengel's way is different. He talks a blue streak and winks owlishly and, as best the boys can make out, gives all the credit to his athletes. If he ever has a hand in winning a game he doesn't let more inside baseball coaching for Casey than he ever suspected there was during his playing career.

The 36-hole route favors the experienced players. Morey, a one-time basketball player and coach at Louisiana State University, served a stint of about two years as a professional. And since regaining his amateur status he has been a crass winner of tournament just below national stature. This year he has played in seven and won them all—including the star-laden Western Amateur.

Little is the choice of most touring professionals as the best prospect they've seen lately. As a recreation director at the San Diego Naval Air Station he is able to concentrate on his golf. He knocked par to pieces in the California winter tournaments, went to the semi-finals of the Trans-Mississippi Championship and he was a standout performer in the Walker Cup matches.

Coast guardsman Arnold Palmer of Wickliffe, Ohio, who had many factored two big upsets, lost to Albert in the fifth round yesterday. Ray Palmer of Grosse Ile, Mich., was beaten by Cudd, 2 and 1, in the quarterfinal, and Angelo Santilli of East Greenwich, R. I., yielded to Morey in a 20-hole quarterfinal match.

Little was three under par for his two matches against John L. Morgan. British Walker Cup player, and Public Links champion Ted Richards Jr., of Los Angeles and five under so far in the tournament. He beat Morgan, 5 and 4, and Richards, 4 and 3, in a display of merciless golf.

St. Benedicts Beats Springfield Bears

SPRINGFIELD (P)—St. Benedict's of Atchison, Kas., has notched up its first football victory this season by defeating Southwest Missouri State here, 14-6.

The Ravens scored with 35 seconds remaining in the second quarter and again in the final period. Springfield's lone tally came on a one-yard plunge by Jack Clingan after a long drive in the third quarter.

Kid Gavilan Looks to Two World Titles

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (P)—Kid Gavilan is looking past tonight's welterweight title defense against rugged Carmen Basilio of nearby Canastota toward a double world championship.

The Cuban Keed has designs on the middleweight crown if he gets past Basilio in a 15-round bout that will be seen and heard nationally by radio (ABC) and television (NBC) at 9:00 p. m. (EST) with Syracuse and a 100-mile area blacked out on TV.

If Gavilan wins he is obligated to risk his 147-pound title against Johnny Bratton, former NBA champ, within 60 days but he and his manager, Angel Lopez, already are talking about bigger game.

As Gavilan is a 3½ to 1 choice to dispose of another local hero before the home folks, he can afford to look ahead. If Basilio, 26-year-old son of an onion farmer, upsets him, it will be Carmen's turn to do the talking. The winner must fight Bratton next under terms of an agreement with the New York State Athletic Commission.

"Gavilan can beat either Bobo Olson or Randy Turpin," said Lopez. "If he went on to win the middleweight title, I would have him retire quick. He would be a great hero in Cuba as a double champ."

Turpin and Olson meet at Madison Square Garden next month for the 160-pound title vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson. Gavilan, of course, would have to give up his welter title if he should win another.

In this neck of the woods, they think Gavilan is no cinch to breeze past Basilio, a game, determined ex-Marine who is superbly conditioned for the big effort of his life.

Gavilan had his troubles getting down to the class limit of 147 pounds after scaling 154 for his recent fight Aug. 26 with Ralph (Tiger) Jones. Fans who like Basilio count on a weight-weakened Gavilan fading under the persistent attack of the upstart.

Although Gavy had to dry out to make the weight, he is supremely confident of handling Basilio. Since he won the championship from Bratton he beat Billy Graham twice and whipped Bobby Dykes, Gil Turner and Chuck Davey with the big prize on the line.

Northern Rothschid, who is promoting the bout in cooperation with the International Boxing Club, predicts a crowd of about 8,500 and a gate of $85,000.

Hornsby Leaves Big League's 'Graveyard'

CINCINNATI (P)—There is a major league baseball manager's job open in Cincinnati but whoever gets it had better keep his suitcase packed.

At times Ohio State University has been called the "Graveyard of Football Coaches" and now it looks as if the Cincinnati Redlegs are gunning for the title of the "Graveyard of Baseball Managers."

When the Redlegs fired Rogers Hornsby yesterday he became the fourth pilot of the team to walk the plank in less than six full seasons.

His immediate predecessors—in the order of their firing—were Johnny Neun, Bucky Walters and Luke Sewell. None stayed as long as two full seasons, and none stayed long enough to do much about lifting the Redlegs out of the National League's second division where the team has reposed since 1944.

Yanks, So Cards Find, Need to Eye Bums In Ninth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Yankees would do well to keep a close eye on the Dodgers when the ninth inning of each World Series game rolls around. The St. Louis Cardinals know that now. In the three-game series which ended yesterday at Busch Stadium the Redbirds had the National League champions from Brooklyn trailing as the ninth came up. Twice the Dodgers upset things at that point.

Harvey Haddix, who has beaten the Dodgers three times this year, and the Redbirds held a 3-1 edge yesterday thanks to Stan Musial's big bat.

The bums salvaged the game 4-3 with Wayne Belardi batting in the tying and winning runs.

A first-inning single by Musial made it 1-0. Dick Williams hit his first home run of the year from Brooklyn in the second inning, then Musial drove a ball out of the park, his 27th homer this season, with a man on in the third.

That's where things stood until Jackie Robinson doubled to start the ninth. Roy Campanella singled him home. A single by Billy Cox and a wild pitch put the runners on second and third from where,

Army Football Team In State Of Flux In 53

WEST POINT, N. Y. (P)—Army's football team is in a state of flux these days as the Cadets await the recovery of fullback Fred Attaya.

The absence of Attaya, who suffered a knee injury in mid-summer, has forced Coach Earl (Red) Blaik to try many combinations with the active members of his casualty-ridden squad.

Attaya is the best runner and pass receiver and the only good punter at West Point. The cast was removed from his leg last week but he's unable to put on pads yet and is a doubtful starter for the Furman opener Sept. 26.

Blaik lost his three best tackles and two fine backs in events which followed spring practice. Tackles Neil Chamberlain and Bob Guidera are off the squad due to injuries while backs Dick Reich and Fred Meyers and tackle Ron Lincoln resigned from the academy.

Meanwhile the army coach, working with a slim 40-man squad including just 13 lettermen, is concentrating on building his team back toward the heights it attained prior to the 1951 cribbing incident.

Three sophomores may be starters on the inexperienced but talented army forward wall. Bob Farris of Montgomery, Ala., a center, heads the delegation while the others are tackle Ron Melnich and guard Ralph Chesnauskas. They will join veterans Leroy Lum, captain and guard, tackle John Krause Sisson.

But it's the backfield situation that has the coaching staff worried.

Gerry Lodge, a guard, and Pete Manus have been working at the fullback post. And Bill Doremus, a former tackle, has been concentrating on that badly needed punting.

Veteran Tom Bell, a defensive specialist in '52, and soph Pat Uebel led the halfback candidates while Pete Vann appears to be the No. 1 quarterback.

Army will use the closest thing to platoons that football legislation will allow this fall. "We're working on a two team system, trying to bring two full units along together," Blaik affirms.

one out later, they scored on Belardi's third hit of the game.

It was Brooklyn's 100th victory and the 15th in 22 games with the Cards this year. It was Carl Erskine's 20th triumph and Haddix's 8th loss in seeking his 19th victory.

Don Larsen tossed his fifth straight victory, a 7-1 decision over the New York Yankees, in another day game. The American League leaders had only four hits. Mickey Mantle scored from third on Charley Silveira's fly in the second inning for the lone New York run.

Dem Says GOP Loses Out Over TH Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Murray of Montana, senior Democrat on the Senate Labor Committee, said today the Republican party has lost popularity by failing to take a formal stand on Taft-Hartley Act revision.

Murray, who headed the Labor Committee under the past Democratic administration, also said it was unlikely Congress would amend the law in the session starting next January.

"The resignation of Secretary of Labor Durkin was injurious to the Republicans, and I don't think you can argue that it was not," Murray said in an interview.

Durkin quit the Cabinet last week with an assertion that President Eisenhower had agreed to the submission of 19 proposed changes in the Taft-Hartley Act, and that the White House later backed out on the agreement.

There was speculation that Durkin might be succeeded by Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), chairman of the House Labor Committee. McConnell said he has had discussions of the possibility—he did not say with whom—"but there is nothing definite or final." Associates termed him the No. 1 candidate.

McConnell said in a speech at Princeton, N. J., yesterday that he "never understood there was complete agreement" on proposed Taft-Hartley revision. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, said yesterday he was amazed at Durkin's statement because, Smith declared, "I know perfectly well there wasn't any agreement to break."

President George Meany of the AFL meanwhile fired an angry blast at the Eisenhower administration in St. Louis yesterday, saying that Eisenhower "is not strong enough to stand up for his point of view against the people who seem to control the administration in Washington."

Sen. Smith, in an interview today, said he wants to discuss the whole Taft-Hartley situation with Eisenhower before making any decision on how the Taft-Hartley law should be changed.

Smith disagreed with Murray's view that no amendments would be adopted by Congress next year, but he cautioned against "too much monkeying" with the law. Murray recalled that Eisenhower specifically suggested two amendments in campaign speeches last year but that the administration has not yet taken any formal position or made any recommendations to Congress.

Murray said this, coupled with what he said was acceptance of the existing law by most Republicans in Congress, all but doomed any changes next year.

Chemical Is Reported To Hold Lawn Growth

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Chemical being used by the Ohio Highway Department may end "lawn mowitis"—the summer disease known to make men lie down at the sight of uncut lawns.

W. J. Garmhausen, the department's chief landscape architect, said M40 can be sprayed on grass in April and will so stunt the grass growth that it won't have to be cut all summer.

In Columbus, an Ohio State University agronomy professor, Charles J. Willard, said the chemical "sure will work if applied at the proper time and place. We sprayed it on blue grass and it just stood there without growing for three months."

However, he cautioned, he would not recommend it for home use because it will kill some kinds of grass if applied at the wrong time.

Boy Isn't Superman, He Learns Hard Way

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Eight-year-old Larry King posed on his second floor fire escape, adjusted the silk scarf around his head and spread the towel which hung, cape-like, down his back.

Then he took off. "I thought the air would get under my towel and float me down like it does Superman," he said tearfully.

Then, in his hospital bed, he peeked down at the plaster casts covering his broken wrists and said:

"Tell the kids that Superman may be able to fly but little boys can't."

Bob Thomas In Hollywood— Film Companies Make Fewer Pictures; All Cut Sharply

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What are actors doing about the dearth of movie making in Hollywood?

I put this question to William Holden, an actor who is busy enough himself, but still has concern for his fellow craftsmen. He is a vice president of the Screen Actors Guild.

"What can we do?" he asked. "We cannot create employment. We cannot go to the producers and urge them to make more pictures so our members can have more jobs. All we can do is wait until they call us for work."

Is the Guild urging some of its members to get into other lines of work?

"No," he replied. "Our jurisdiction is wages and working conditions. We cannot tell someone who has devoted years to the acting profession that he should give it up. That's a personal matter."

Holden admitted that the situation looks grim for those who seek acting jobs in the studios.

"MGM will make 18 pictures in the coming year, compared to 40 and 50 in the past," he remarked. "Paramount will make 12 and Fox 12. The plain fact is that there won't be enough work to go around."

"But the actor has traditionally been a very resilient sort of a person. He has always been able to move around and find jobs somewhere else in the country."

"Television has provided a great deal of work for actors, both live and on film. Many actors who once worked only in Hollywood now live in New York. They can do TV there and come out here when they are needed for pictures."

"The stage offers a lot more work, particularly in the summer time, and the night clubs are booming too, not only in Las Vegas where the business is terrific but in other towns."

"So don't worry about actors. They generally make out all right."

Holden is one actor I'm not going to worry about. He's a busy lad. He finished "Escape From Fort Bravo" in time to go out on the road and help sell "The Moon Is Blue," the first picture in which he has a profit-sharing interest. Then he came back to appear in "Executive Suite."

He has a few hours' breather before reporting to Paramount for "Sabrina Fair" with Humphrey Bogart and Audrey Hepburn. Then take a deep breath; there's more—he goes to Japan to film background shots for "The Bridges At Toko-Ri." That's the current best seller by James Michener.

National Plowing Matches Today

AUGUSTA, Wis. (AP)—Midwest farm folk by the thousands streamed into this small Wisconsin community today to see the biggest agricultural show of the year.

They gathered on the 800 acres that make up the Thompson Creek watershed to learn how best to fight corrosive effects of the weather, to see state and national plowing matches and to view a two million dollar exhibit of farm machinery.

The two-day show is called the National Soil Conservation Field Days and Plowing Matches.

On the first day's schedule today were the Wisconsin plowing matches; demonstrations of stream bank improvement, waterways, terracing, tiling and channel changing and programs for rural women stressing modern home-making ideas. The national level and contour plowing champions will be decided tomorrow. The final event on the program is a major address by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Hundreds of tents housing the machinery exhibits and refreshment stands dotted the area. The crowd is expected to reach 50,000 tomorrow. Forty state traffic patrolmen and 20 game wardens will be on hand to keep order.

Irrigation experts poured water at the rate of 800 gallons on a minute for several hours yesterday on the fields where the state level plowing event was to be held to soften the parched land. Sites for the state contour and the national matches have a good stand of food grass and are in better shape for plowing.

The two national champions crowned at Kasson, Minn., last year will defend their titles. They are Graeme Stewart, Plainfield, Ill., the level land winner, and Martin Cummins, Lewistown, Ohio, the contour king.

Beautiful Jail
EAST POINT, Ga. — The new $200,000 city jail in this Atlanta suburb is so inviting in appearance that tourists sometimes stop and seek accommodations, thinking it is a hotel.

Police Chief William H. Taylor helped design the posh calaboose and is mighty proud of it but he wants to scotch one report that's gotten around. It's not air-conditioned.

"I wish it was," adds Taylor, whose offices are in the jail.

Migration Problem
MELBOURNE — An Australian Labor leader says Japan will submit claims for migration to New Guinea at the International Labor Organization Asian regional conference in Tokyo in September.

Albert E. Monk, president of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, made the statement in an address to the United Nations Association. He recently returned from an I. L. O. conference in Geneva.

Monk said Asian countries, except Japan, had changed their post-war clamor for migration because they realized that the limited number of migrants Australia could absorb would not solve their population problems.

It is estimated that when white men first came to the United States there were about eight trillion board feet of timber in the forests of the country.

It is estimated that if all U. S. forests were in one plot they would cover an area equal to all states east of the Mississippi plus Kansas and Louisiana.

Of Sedalia's Ministers

THE REV. DAVID M. FUNK, pastor, in the pulpit at Trinity Lutheran Church.
(Photo by Walsh)

By REV. DAVID M. FUNK
Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church

"The hymn, 'Rock of Ages,' is a favorite of mine because it sets forth so completely the story of the atonement for sin. How graciously God gave to provide the way of salvation for our soul is expressed so forcefully in this great hymn of the church. The hymn expresses the redemption program of God calling us back and reconciling us through the great sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the cross. How Christ atoned for sinners, and brought them back again to a loving God, is a soul warming experience! In singing this hymn one experiences how wonderfully God has saved us by His grace through faith in Christ."

ROCK OF AGES
"Rock of ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee;
Let the Water and the Blood,
From Thy risen side which flowed,
Be of sin, the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

Nothing in my hands I bring,
Simply to Thy cross I cling;
Naked, come to Thee for dress;
Helpless, look to Thee for grace;
Foul, I to the fountain fly;
Wash me, Saviour, or I die."

Rev. Parker Leaves Church Of Open Bible

The Rev. Roy Parker, who for the past four years has been pastor of the Church of the Open Bible, 705 East Fifth, is leaving Sedalia to accept a pastorate at Waterloo, Ia. He will preach his last sermon in Sedalia at 7:45 p. m. Sunday and, with his wife, will leave Tuesday for Waterloo.

During the four years that the Rev. Mr. Parker has been in Sedalia, the leadership of the church has been extensively remodeled and a new parsonage has been built. A large brick house next to the church was torn down and a modern home was built by Mr. Parker and some of the congregation for a parsonage. He has been in the ministry 12 years.

While in Sedalia he has been active in the Ministerial Alliance.

New Pastor Coming

The Rev. Neil Gail of Marshalltown, Ia., the new pastor of the Church of the Open Bible, will arrive in Sedalia Sunday and will at services that day be presented to his congregation by the Rev. Mr. Parker.

The Rev. Mr. Gail and his wife are both graduates of the Open Bible Institute. They have two children, Donald, 15, and Sharon, 14.

He was president of the Divisional Overcomers in Ottumwa, Ia.

Walnut Grove Rally, Homecoming Sunday

The revival and preaching mission at Walnut Grove Methodist Church is continuing through Sunday when a homecoming rally and dinner will be held. The Rev. H. A. Wood, pastor, will preach at the Sunday morning service.

At 2 p. m. Sunday a song festival will be held and several speakers will be heard. This will close the eight day revival.

Pastor Gives Topic

At worship service off Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday morning, the pastor, the Rev. David M. Funk, will speak on "Souls on Dead-End Streets". There will be special music by the vested choir.

Installation for Miss Noyes At First Christian Church

Miss Kathryn Noyes has recently moved to Sedalia and has begun her work as director of religious education at the First Christian Church. She moved to Sedalia from Des Moines, Ia., where she has been living for the past several years. The First Christian Church has called her to assume primary administrative responsibility for its program of Christian education, with the direction of the church school program as a leading responsibility.

During the past two years Miss Noyes has been directing the education program of the Central Christian Church of Des Moines. Both by academic training and by experience, Miss Noyes has specialized in the kind of work the local church has called her to do.

She holds an A.B. degree from the Nebraska State College at Kearney, where her home is also located. Subsequent to that she attended Drake University to specialize still further in her chosen field.

While serving as director of religious education in Des Moines, Miss Noyes made an excellent reputation for herself as a capable leader in Christian education. She has been interested in all phases of the church's educational program, and especially interested in the youth program of the church. Although she has only been in Sedalia a matter of days, she has already begun the process of developing a youth program here.

The Rev. David M. Bryan, pastor, has announced that the church will hold a special installation service for Miss Noyes this coming Sunday at 7:30 p. m. At that time Frank Crow, the Missouri State director of religious education for the Christian Churches, will be present to participate in the formal installation. The church will also hold a reception in its fellowship hall immediately following the installation. Mrs. Milton Dale is in charge of the reception.

Miss Kathryn Noyes

Missionary Freed By Reds Will Speak At Smithton Sunday

Miss Bertha Smith, Marshall, will be guest speaker at the regular morning worship at the Smithton Methodist Church at 10:30 o'clock Sunday, Sept. 20.

Miss Smith was a missionary to Korea for a number of years and was captured by the Reds and held in a Communist prison camp for three years. She was released during the POW exchange and returned to this country.

She is a member of the WSCS in the Southwest Missouri conference. Women of the church will be in charge of the service and invitations have been extended to neighboring churches. Everyone is welcome to attend and hear her.

Lamine Association Plans Study of Book

Churches of the Lamine Baptist Association will observe preparation week for "A Million More in '54" Sept. 20-27. A new book, "The Pull of the People", is being used as the basis of the preparation for the campaign to reach a million more persons in the Sunday Schools of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The Stover Baptist Church has already had four sessions of the book and will conclude the study on Sept. 22. At the Syracuse Church the Rev. J. M. James will teach the book in evening sessions Sept. 21-25.

Witnesses to Meet

Jehovah's Witnesses will meet at Kingdom Hall Sunday at 2 p. m. for Bible study.

Revival Will Close Sunday Night at East Sedalia Baptist Church

The revival meeting at the East Sedalia Baptist Church will close Sunday night. Good crowds have been attending the services for which Dr. Earl Harding, Warrensburg, has been the evangelist and Clay Killian, Sweet Springs, the song leader.

Subjects for Dr. Hardin at the closing services include: Friday night, "God in History"; Saturday night, "Little Things"; Sunday morning, "The Call Home," and Sunday night, "The Name Jesus".

Houstonia Methodist Picnic Here Sunday

The Houstonia Methodist Church will hold its annual picnic at Liberty Park at 12 noon on Sunday, Sept. 20. Friends of the church are welcome.

Opium Trade Heavy

KUALA LUMPUR — Millions of dollars worth of opium is smuggled into Malaya by large, well-organized gangs.

Singapore in the south and Penang Island in the north are the "reservoirs" piping the contraband into Malayan towns. The Customs Central Information Office, set up to gather intelligence about the trade, has found.

A. W. S. Sim, chief of the new office, said a blacklist of more than 8,000 persons believed engaged directly or indirectly in opium smuggling has been compiled. Sim said Customsmen seized five tons of opium worth $2,250,000 in 1952.

One Show In 47 Years Skipped

By Mrs. Leonard Phifer

WINDSOR — Mrs. John Chipman attended the 47th annual Colt Show at Calhoun last Friday and Saturday. She has never missed but one year out of the 47 and that was the year of 1909 and said August of that year was as hot as 1933 but not nearly so dry.

Mrs. L. A. Corson and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sprague, Bellflower, Calif., are spending this week with their sister, Mrs. Elmer Saults in Concordia.

Miss Mary Lee Kincade is spending this week in Kansas City with her brother, Lyle Kincade.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller and her mother, Mrs. L. D. Willia, Eldorado Springs, visited Sunday in Clinton with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gill.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Hall, Independence, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Douglas went to St. Louis the first of last week where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall. They also went over into Illinois sight-seeing. On their return they visited W. P. Hall and family in Columbia and visited places of interest in Jefferson City and on to Mack Creek, where they visited Mrs. Harry Douglas and daughter, Roberta. They arrived here Friday and Mr. and Mrs. Hall returned to their home in Independence Friday night.

Mrs. Earl Hudson, Sedalia, visited Mrs. Lillian Milner and other friends over the weekend.

Miss Juanita Taggart, Kansas City, spent the weekend here with her sister, Mrs. Mary VanSlyke, and Dena Kay and other relatives.

Harold, Verne and Ralph Stubbs of near Marshalltown, Ia. came Saturday called by the death of their aunt, Mrs. Almeda Pontius, who was buried Sunday.

Their uncle, Elza Stubbs, who had been here with Mrs. Pontius for several years returned to Iowa with them Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Schoenthal and family, Waukon, Ia., came Monday to visit his aunt, Mrs. Roy B. Marshall and Mr. Marshall.

Miss Clarice Jackson, Pattonville, and Miss Wilma Jackson, Boonville, spent the weekend with their father, George H. Jackson, a patient at the Windsor Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley White, Mrs. Roberta Johnson, Kansas City, Mrs. Gertrude Harris, Clinton, were dinner guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brockway.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sprague, Bellflower, Calif., are visiting his sister, Mrs. L. A. Corson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Warner and family, who have been visiting Mrs. Warner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wells, have returned to their home in Massapeque, N. Y.

Mrs. Buford Duvall, Cherokee, Okla., is visiting her Mrs. Walter Dunn and Mr. Dunn this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Proffitt, Lexington, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Proffitt and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Proffitt.

Mrs. L. D. Willis, Eldorado Springs, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carl Miller and Mr. Miller, Mrs. Roy Carroll, Lewis, Mrs. Elmer Young, Calhoun, and Mrs. Ernest Martin were Thursday dinner guests of Mrs. Clara Powell.

Mrs. Jennie Turner returned home Friday night after a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McQueen and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crutcher in Kansas City.

Mrs. E. R. Wiggins, Clinton, is visiting her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Wiggins, while her daughter, Mrs. Edna Pihel, is vacationing in Colorado with friends.

Mrs. Elmer Thompson went to Springfield Saturday afternoon to be at the bedside of her brother, Tom Burcham, who is ill.

Mrs. Azell Judy, Los Angeles, Calif., is visiting her nieces, Mrs. Warren Nelson and Mrs. Albert Coble and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, Kansas City, spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ingram, East Peoria, Ill., and Mrs. Nellie Collins, Bedford, Ind., have been visiting Mrs. Maude Hensley and Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Wilkerson at their farm home northeast of town.

Mrs. Hensley is a sister of Mr. Ingram and Mrs. Collins. She returned with the Ingrams for a visit.

One of the attractions of medical columns in newspapers is that they stir up the imagination of a lot of people who are always looking for symptoms, says Doc Smithers.

Ice Cream Crisis

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The happy chimes of the ice cream vendor are giving city officials here their biggest headache in years.

Until recently Lubbock's colorful ice cream trucks chimed up and down neighborhoods unchallenged. Then several citizens complained. They worked nights and the chimes disturbed their sleep. Besides, how could children take their naps when the chimes kept them awake?

Didn't the police know it was against the law to use amplifiers for commercial purposes? Sure enough, it was. A city ordinance prohibits such amplifiers. The ice cream men were told to shut off their music. More complaints came

Brodie Twin To Become Happy Human

CHICAGO (AP)—Four doctors who had leading roles in the separation of the head-joined Brodie Siamese twins said today that the surviving twin, Rodney, should develop into a "happy, effective human being."

In the first official report on the history-making case, the doctors said that Rodney's parents and the general public will have an increasingly important hand in the 2-year-old boy's progress.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, they said:

"All the professional and technical skills have basically one objective—to permit this baby to grow and develop as a happy, effective human being. His handicaps—like other handicaps—need not prevent him from fulfilling his goal."

"The future planning must involve most careful attention to his emotional and social development. This will consist in his parents' greater and greater participation in his care as his physical problems permit, continued medical and surgical efforts to correct his physical difficulties . . . and long term planning to assure stimulating educational opportunities that are compatible with his capacities."

"These provisions, associated with increasing understanding of all handicapped children by the public, will provide the best assurance that this boy will have the opportunities that should come to all children—that of fulfillment of his greatest potential as a human being."

The doctors said Rodney is alert and improving with treatment, but added:

"It is difficult to assess the degree of development in all spheres because of the many factors, biological, traumatic and psychological, that have affected his present state."

Rodney is awaiting his 21st operation in which surgeons will build a top for his skull from bone, plastic or metal. At present the only protection over his brain is a layer of transplanted skin.

The report was made by Drs. Herbert J. Grossman, Oscar Sugar, Paul W. Greeley and Max S. Sade.

Searchers Locate Remains of Two Women On Missing Plane

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—The remains of two women, grisly evidence of the tragedy that befell five persons in a plane which disappeared Aug. 17, were found yesterday on the beach 35 miles south-east of here.

One was the body of Mrs. Ellis Hall, wife of the wealthy 54-year-old Albuquerque, N. M., oilman who piloted the plane when it left here on a flight to Bellingham, Wash. The other was identified only as one of the couple's two daughters.

Another of the daughters, Hall and Patrick Hibben, 17, still are missing.

The Hall girls were Joann, 20, daughter of Mrs. Hall, and Elizabeth, 21, Hall's daughter, both by previous marriages. Mrs. Hall was a former Democratic national committeewoman for New Mexico.

More Than 60 Dancers In Recital Tonight

More than 60 children will take part in the annual recital presented by the Harper School of Artistic Dance which will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Smith-Cotton High School auditorium.

The program will consist of tap dancers, acrobatic dancers, baton twirlers, hula girls, the Charleston, small children in "Story Book Ball", ballet dancers, and many other colorful numbers.

The recital will begin with "Happy Days Are Here Again" and ends with "No Business Like Show Business."

Many beautiful costumes will be used in the presentation of the numbers and are in charge of Mrs. Lois Gehlken.

Accompanist for the numbers will be Judy Case.

The young dancers are pupils of Alene Harper.

US Tags 193 Cities as No. 1 Targets for Soviet H-Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the wake of Russia's H-bomb announcement, the United States government has tagged 193 American cities as probable targets of atomic attack—70 of them as "critical."

But the list "does not purport to include all possible targets," the Federal Civil Defense Administration said in issuing it last night.

"For security reasons," it added, "certain targets that have national or military significance, including the atomic energy installations, have not been listed."

It was the first disclosure of areas officially designated as probable A-bomb targets. It supersedes a list adopted in 1952, sent to governors and local civil defense directors but never made public. The 1952 list was ordered destroyed.

Issuance of the new list came six weeks after Russia claimed mastery of the dread hydrogen bomb and two days after municipal legal officers reported some cities are thinking about abandoning civil defense programs unless more federal aid is forthcoming.

A spokesman for the defense agency said Director Val Peterson ordered the list revised and published some time ago. The spokesman said its publication soon after the Soviet announcement was a coincidence.

He said Peterson felt people might be stirred into more civil defense activity if they knew their city had been labeled a probable target.

All state capitals are named, but not as critical targets unless industrially important. Other cities having 50,000 population or more are classed in the non-critical group.

The 70 critical targets, embracing:

His Date Fixed Him With His Own Wish

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Pvt. Edmund J. Noddoff of Boston, a statistician with the Port Transportation Division here tells this on himself:

Last April at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., he had a date with a WAC corporal named Beatrice. He told Beatrice he wouldn't mind being sent to the Far East.

Two days later he was on his way to Korea.

Beatrice, it seems, was a special orders clerk in the adjutant general's office at Breckenridge.

Has No Foreknowledge Of Court Appointment

DENVER (AP)—If President Eisenhower is planning to name Federal circuit Judge Orie L. Phillips to the United States Supreme Court the judge says he is in the dark about it.

"The matter hasn't been discussed with me by the President or the White House, directly or indirectly," Phillips, who lives in Denver, told a reporter last night.

Hurricane Edna Slaps Bermuda, Heads Seaward

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Hurricane Edna roared on into Atlantic shipping lanes 775 miles east of Cape Hatteras today after playing havoc with transportation and electric power on the vacation island of Bermuda.

The Miami Weather Bureau said indications were that the storm would slowly decrease in ferocity, but the area of gales would become larger as the storm center curved further from North America.

Edna, fifth tropical storm of the season, did no apparent major damage to Bermuda although gusts up to 120 miles per hour whipped across the island. Downed trees and shrubs blocked most thoroughfares. Electric power and water service—cut off at most points at 9:30 p. m.—was not expected to resume until this afternoon.

No casualties had been reported early today.

The storm center reportedly passed some 50 miles off Bermuda about 8:30 (EST) last night.

At 5 a. m. (EST) the Miami Weather Bureau said the hurricane was centered near latitude 35.5 degrees N, longitude 61.8 W moving northeast at about 30 miles per hour.

"Strongest winds are about 90 to 95 m.p.h. in squalls near the center," the advisory continued. "Gales extend outward 150 to 200 miles to the east and 100 miles to the west. Indications are for continued northeast movement with further acceleration is forward speed."

"Caution is advised shipping in the path."

The storm appeared to be having no major effect on the U. S. mainland, although scattered showers were reported all along the Atlantic coast.

U. S. Navy and air bases on Bermuda had battered down and sent all their planes to the mainland before the storm struck.

Discourages Would-be Councilman With Fine

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Nels Mastrom pleaded with the judge not to fine him for drunk driving—it would be bad publicity when he runs for a city council seat next April.

"I don't see what you want to be a councilman for," remarked Judge Fred Wyckoff. "They get calls every other night about rooster crowing or someone's sidewalk cracking."

He further discouraged Mastrom with a $150 fine.

Suspect Acts As Own Lawyer, Loses Case

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A dapper ex-convict who told the court he knew a little about legal techniques acted as his own lawyer yesterday to fight a forgery charge.

Ralph Gilbert Acuff nimbly placed himself on the stand, asked himself questions, then answered them.

His debut at the bar was a failure. A jury of eight women and four men brought in a verdict of guilty.

Big City Kids Try Cowboy Ride In East

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Don't ever get the idea that big city kids can't hold their own with Texans!

Texans, of course, are used to riding the wide open ranges, not embarking on a 1,700 mile cross country trip.

But last night four young people, looking all the world like Texans, showed up on Pittsburgh's outskirts. Despite their cowboy jeans, sombreros and Texas cayuses, the young folk came from Manhattan and that's where they headed this morning.

The four, riding and leading seven equally tired horses (they have three spares) identified themselves as 23-year-old Miss Nini Galpin, senior cowpoke and spokesman, Miss Cayla Hitzig, 17, her brother, Rupert, 15, and Bruce Whiteley, 16.

The four, their horses and a dog they picked up along the way when they left Austin, Tex., June 15, spent the night at Monzo's Ranch on the Greensburg Pike a few miles from the steel city.

Miss Galpin explained they conceived the idea last summer of going to Texas, getting themselves some horses and bringing them back the way any good cowpoke should.

Despite their weariness, the four say they still believe it's an ideal way to spend a vacation. They carry their own cook stove and utensils. And sleeping under the stars can be mighty good, they add, when you're using the air mattresses they carry as standard equipment.

Today, they said they'd head for Apollo, Pa., then Clearfield, Pa., Williamsport, Pa., and on to New York.

So far the New Yorkers have had little trouble. However, they started out with eight horses but one got kicked in Tennessee and had to be left behind. And in Tennessee they acquired Sam, a non-descript puppy. The four take turns carrying their mascot.

The brother and sister and young Whiteley are just a little worried because they'll be late entering school. Cayla is a New York City pupil, her brother, Rupert, attends Milton Academy in Massachusetts and young Whiteley attends Friends Academy in Long Island.

And what in the world will they do with their horses when they get to New York? Why, said Miss Galpin, that's simple. Smiling, she declared:

"We'll keep them at the Hitzig farm at Bearsville 100 miles north of the city. We all like to ride and we'll be up there a lot from now on."

Peck's Wife Reveals Their Separation Since Last January

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gregory Peck's wife says she and the actor have been separated since last January.

As for the chance of a divorce, she told a reporter last night: "I've taken no steps along those lines." Reconciliation? "This is something I haven't thought about enough."

Mrs. Greta Peck and the couple's three sons, Jonathan, 9; Stephen, 7, and Carey Paul, 4 returned from Paris last January. They had gone to Rome with the actor, where he had a film assignment, the preceding May. He is now making a movie in Munich, Germany.

The couple married Oct. 4, 1942, in New York City.

Good Will, Unity In Pacific Areas Leads to Treaties

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles says more good will and unity in the Far East and Pacific areas could lead to comprehensive mutual security agreements.

Dulles, speaking last night at a dinner honoring Crown Prince Akihito of Japan, said the United States is vitally interested in a collective security organization in the Pacific.

This country has signed individual treaties with Australia and New Zealand (Anzus), Japan, The Philippines, and a tentative pact with South Korea.

The Alcohol Worked Better Than Oilman Thought It Could

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Bailed out of city jail yesterday after being booked for drunken driving, a 41-year-old oil man handed his property slip to Jail Clerk C. W. Dickinson:

"You guys thought I was drunk when I came in. Well, I was sober enough to know exactly how much money I had. And it had all better be there."

"How much?" asked Dickinson. "Exactly $348," replied the Midland, Tex., resident with a wide grin.

Dickinson, with an equally wide grin, handed over the man's envelope of personal belongings.

The oil man counted out $384 in cash and $9,000 in checks.

"Well," he laughed, "I guess I musta been drunker'n I thought I was."

Farmer Brings Fire To Firemen's Door

WAGONER, Okla. (AP)—Hardy volunteer firemen, accustomed to donning their helmets and racing all over town to fight blazes, were surprised yesterday when a farm operator considerably brought one to the fire house door.

Sparks from a pipe being smoked by Henry Wiley ignited a load of cotton in his truck. He dashed inside and rolled the vehicle to the firehouse, yelling for help.

Getting over their initial surprise, the smoke-eaters dumped water on the blaze, saving most of the cargo.

Town Citizens Object To Limiting Whistle

WAGONER, Okla. (AP)—For many years this small city's townfolk have set their watches and adjusted their lives to the city whistle.

City fathers decided to follow the example of other cities and blow the whistle only for emergencies. The decision brought a howl from citizens louder than the aged whistle.

Life again is normal, paced by five whistles daily.

Worker Killed At SAFB

Eugene Morris, 46, Fatally Injured As Wall Collapses, Board Hits His Head

Eugene Morris, 46, employed on construction at the Sedalia Air Force Base, was fatally injured Thursday morning when a wall of the new maintenance building collapsed and fell during a strong wind. He died in an ambulance enroute to the Warrensburg Medical Center.

Morris was reported to have suffered a skull fracture when struck by a three-by-six timber as the wall fell. The wall was of frame and when it went over it pulled two layers of the stone block foundation away.

He was employed by the Workman Plumbing Co., Parsons, Kan., that has a subcontract with the Baumann Construction Co. of Nevada, Mo., which firm is constructing the maintenance building.

The accidental death of Morris is the first to mar the excellent safety record at the Sedalia Air Force base since it was reactivated and since new construction began 21 months ago. The safety record of the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers, in charge of all new construction at the base, has been one of the outstanding records in the country.

The victim was married and with his family moved to Houghton only a few days ago. Papers on Morris indicated he formerly resided on route 11, North Kansas City.

Wheat Prices Take Big Drop On Trade Board

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (P)—A session of active dealings and quick changes in price trends was featured by a late sell off in wheat on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat fell as much as six cents at the height of the liquidating move, but recovered a part of that in the closing minutes. Rye and oats were weak.

Wheat closed 2 to 3 1/2 cents lower, corn 3/4 cent lower to 1 1/2 cents higher, oats 1 to 1 1/2 cents lower, rye 2 to 3 1/2 cents lower and soybeans 3/4 cent lower to 3 1/2 cents higher.

Brokers said the main reason for the wheat price break was the overnight action of the Canadian wheat board in extending the discounts at which it quotes lower grades of wheat in relation to No. 1 northern in the export market.

In effect, brokers said, this left the price of No. 1 northern unchanged but lowered the price for all other grades. The reductions were not large but evidently some grain men thought this was a fore-runner of more extensive price cutting by the Canadian government agency.

There were times when corn was quite strong. Although deferred contracts retreated from their best levels, September held quite close to the top. It was propped up by short covering based on small receipts of cash corn and an active demand in the spot market.

Cash prices advanced 1 1/2 to 2 cents. No. 2 yellow sold as high as $1.70 1/4, or 11 1/2 cents above the final price for the September contract.

Oats and rye never could get anywhere, meeting persistent selling on news of Canadian shipments.

Administration To Probe Delay In Sale Of Grains

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17 (P)—The administration has promised to investigate complaints of red tape and delays in the sale of government grain to drought-stricken Missouri farmers, Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) said today.

Symington, who said earlier he had found "almost incredible administrative conditions" in the relief program, told newsmen he had a telegram from Secretary of Agriculture Benson saying the changes were "very disturbing."

"An investigation will be made," Benson wired Symington. "We have felt that with the funds limited by Congress, the only sound way for distribution of feed was through state and county committees composed in part of private citizens, these committees to act under statements of basic purposes of program with reasonable discretion left in committees to assure administration on a fair and equitable basis, having in mind the needs of each applicant."

Following a tour of drought-stricken counties, Symington said that millions of dollars were being lost in crop failures and sale of cattle at distress prices because of confusing and misadministration of the relief program.

Bombers Use Greenland Air Force Base

May Be Springboard Against Eurasia If Russia Turns To War

THULE AIR FORCE BASE, Greenland, Sept. 17 (P)—B-36 bombers of the United States Air Force already are beginning to try out this new airbase at the top of the world as a springboard for strikes at Eurasia should Russia turn to war.

A half dozen of the far-ranging B-36s have come here during recent months, it now may be disclosed, from their home bases 3,000 miles away in the United States.

Here at this northern tip of Greenland is then northernmost of the chain of bases operated by the Northeast Air Command.

And only 1,700 miles away on a direct line, describing an arc over the polar ice, is the coast line of the Russian mainland with munition-making cities and the capital lying a few hours beyond.

Nearer are such potential Soviet bases as the islands of Novaya Zemlya and Franz Joseph Land from which the Reds could launch their own strikes with hydrogen, atomic or conventional bombs against North American cities and the string of Arctic airfields which form the northern bastion.

But this powerful airbase in the ice and rocks of the Arctic is much more than a springboard for the 12,000 mile range B-36s.

It brings Russia in a retaliatory bombing war within range of the swift-flying B-47 jet bombers or the older piston-engined B-29s and B-50s.

All three types of the medium bombers have operated into and out of Thule either in routine training operations or experimentally.

Together with providing a base for retaliatory bombing of Eurasian targets, Thule and the other bases of the Northeast Command have an equally important military mission. Thule and the bases south of here in Greenland and Labrador exist as a system of warning for and interception of a sudden strike by Red long-range bombers.

Fall Rose Show to Be Held Friday at Little Theatre

The Fall Rose Show, sponsored by the Sedalia Rose Society, will be held Friday, starting at 8 p. m., in the Little Theatre of Smith-Cotton High School at which time a round table discussion will be featured on "Know Your Roses."

The Rose Society is anxious that all those who have roses bring them to the Little Theatre between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m. and there will be members of the receiving committee there to receive them. There is no need to bring a container, the Rose Society provides specimen vases, just bring the roses. Of course anyone who would like to bring an arrangement of roses or a float rose arrangement will necessarily have to take the container, and such arrangements would be appreciated by the Rose Society, too.

This is truly a rose show, not a contest. There will be no awards of any kind given for anything.

Ex-POW Finally Gets Home After Complications

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 17 (P)—He didn't come this way. He may have come that way.

It was an hours-long, disconcerting and suspenseful situation around here as the folks waited on pins and needles for the arrival of Cpl. Donnie Rippetto, back from 33 months in a Communist prison camp.

Things started going haywire early. Donnie, 21, left California by air last night. Everyone figured he would arrive in Kansas City in good time this morning. A local airline operator scampers one of his craft to Kansas City, 140 miles away.

The folks stood around at Jefferson City's airport waiting for the returnee. The plane came back without him. Seems he took some other route.

Hours later, after phone calls and footling shuffling, gas graving and bus burning, they decided he flew into Oklahoma City instead.

And while the Jefferson City plane was returning from Kansas City, Corporal Donnie apparently was flying from Oklahoma City to Kansas City.

Things kept building up—more phone calls, more anxious waiting. Then the Jefferson City plane went back to Kansas City with the folks still shuffling their feet at the Jefferson City airport.

Finally, at 2:30 p. m. and some five hours behind the home-set schedule, Corporal Donnie flew in. After that the routine followed just what you would expect in greeting for a returning soldier so long believed lost.

But there's some talk they'll watch Corporal Donnie closely so he'll be on hand for the big public ceremony scheduled for Saturday. Everyone has been chipping in to make the day a big one for the ex-prisoner of war.

Missouri Pen Escapee Shot In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17 (P)—Police Captain Ted Baughman today identified a man shot to death Tuesday by a grocer as a 44-year-old bank robber who escaped from the Missouri State Penitentiary.

Baughman identified the man as Orville Hovey, who escaped Aug. 23 from a prison farm near Jefferson City. He was serving a 40-year sentence for bank robbery in 1933.

He was shot by Henry G. Ward, 53, who said the man stopped his car. Ward was carrying receipts from his grocery store and had a gun on the seat next to him.

Campaign Against Jews Reopen In Two Countries

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 17 (P)—A campaign against Jews which flared through Communist East Europe in 1952 has been secretly reopened in Romania and Czechoslovakia, usually reliable sources said today.

Dozens of Jewish leaders were said to be under arrest—and some under long prison sentences—in the reported new drive to wipe out Jewish opposition to Communism.

"The anti-Jewish show is on again," the informants stated. So far as is known here, Hungary, Poland and Bulgaria have not taken part in the revival.

Western opinion was described as the ruling factor in the Communist decision to keep the new campaign under wraps, rather than to stage internationally publicized trials. A wave of protest arose in the West when Communism's 1952 campaign reached its peak in the trial and conviction of a group of Jewish Communists headed by Rudolf Slansky.

POWs Refuse 'Explanation' Commie Teams

Indian Troops Fingerprint Nearly 2,000 Anti-Reds

MUNSAN, Friday, Sept. 18 —Trouble brewed today in rapidly filling stockades where hot-tempered anti-Red Chinese and Korean prisoners of war showed signs they would refuse even to meet Communist "explanation" teams trying to win them back.

Indian troops guarding these stockades in the demilitarized zone faced the tough task of fingerprinting nearly 2,000 anti-Red Chinese who yesterday ripped off identification tags and withheld their names.

This seemed an obvious move by the captives to shift relatives behind the Bamboo Curtain from possible Red retaliation.

An Indian spokesman later indicated that the 5-nation Repatriation Commission might turn back future deliveries of prisoners without identification cards.

Yesterday's arrivals of fifty anti-Reds shattered rocks on a conveyor of Russian-made jeeps loaded with Communist observers, interpreters and correspondents.

In sharp contrast, American trucks and jeep drivers who brought the prisoners in a convoy to the stockades near Panmunjom were cheered and applauded as they left the area.

Today the Indian guards had the task of keeping in line a record day's delivery of 2,420 anti-Reds—1,000 North Koreans, 1,420 Chinese.

This brings to 14,000 those put in the "Indian Village" stockades, with about 9,000 more to come. Within another week, the Red "explanation" teams will start trying to get these men to change their minds.

Trouble is expected at that time and the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission now is studying how to forestall it.

From all appearances, many off the rabid, anti-Red prisoners simply may refuse to come out and hear what the Communists have to say. Allied officers say the prisoners cannot be forced to listen.

Other prisoners may insist on listening in such large groups that the Red teams may find it difficult getting their words across.

A statement yesterday by Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East command, stressed that the armistice document guarantees that no violence or "affront to their dignity or self-respect" can be employed against such prisoners.

The Communists say they held about 300 South Korean prisoners and more than 20 non-Koreans who refuse repatriation. They presumably include some Americans.

Both sides will be allowed 90 days in which to explain to their former soldiers their rights and privileges and seek to coax them to return home.

That would go a long way toward wiping out the Post Office Department deficit, he said, which was estimated at 450 million dollars for the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

The 5-cent expedited service is under consideration by an 11-member advisory council to the Senate Post Office Committee.

Carlson heads the council; the 10 other members are citizens representing various classes of mail users.

The senator emphasized that the 5-cent proposal was only under study, and the council had not approved it.

However, he expressed the view that some sort of postal rate increase bill would be passed in the 1954 congressional session. He said the advisory council expects to have recommendations ready in January, with new rates proposed not only on first class or letter mail but also on the classes which cover publications, advertising circulars and packages.

GOP Chief Attacks Stevenson

Proposals Represent 'Appeasement' And 'Softness Toward Communism'

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (P)—The Senate Republican policy chief, Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, charged today that Adlai E. Stevenson's proposals for cold war peace negotiations with Russia represent "appeasement" and "softness toward communism."

Furthermore, Ferguson told a news conference, he thinks he fairly well represents the thinking of the entire Republican party on that.

That the GOP, on the eve of party conferences looking toward strengthening their narrow margin of control in Congress in the 1954 election, began booming a counter-barrage against attacks cut loose by the Democrats at their own party rally here earlier in the week.

Ferguson will be keynote speaker at the Chicago convocation of Republican women and state chairmen from the Midwest and nearby regions. He tore a page or two from the text he has ready to hang away at Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952, and Stevenson's Tuesday night foreign policy speech to the nation.

It is difficult to "discover," he said, "exactly what Adlai Stevenson is advocating, but anyone who has read the speech will have to admit that the old softness toward communism which has marred his wing of the Democratic party is still with us."

While he was at it, the senator told questioning reporters:

1. The budget can be balanced and taxes be cut by the end of next year—and without a sales tax.

2. Defense spending will have to be trimmed, along with payrolls, but this can be done through improved efficiency of operations.

3. The "mess in Washington" required some wrecking. That was a slap at former President Harry S. Truman's contention the GOP hastened a "wrecking crew" loose in the country and it is up to the Democrats to keep the nation and the world off the "road to ruin."

4. Democratic charges that President Eisenhower has broken campaign promises to farmers won't stand up.

5. Instead of what Stevenson termed "government by postponement," the GOP is providing better government by reorganization and improved performance.

Ferguson was part of the advance guard of Republicans hustling into town for two days of political huddles. As they began stringing the 1954 political pot, they found they might have to battle Alban W. Barkley in crucial Kentucky next year.

Barkley told reporters at Knoxville, Tenn., he wasn't saying anything about politics.

But before some of Barkley's associates got away from the Democratic party rally here, they said the former senator and vice president is almost sure to bid again for his old Senate seat against Republican John Sherman Cooper.

A Barkley-Cooper race could have a critical effect on control of the Senate.

Carlson Wants Public Reaction On 5c Letters

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (P)—Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) today tossed out for public reaction the idea of increasing the 5-cent postal rate on letter to five cents and sending most of them by air.

Carlson, who heads the Senate Post Office Committee, told a news conference that such a boost would bring in about 330 million dollars more revenue a year.

That would go a long way toward wiping out the Post Office Department deficit, he said, which was estimated at 450 million dollars for the current fiscal year ending next June 30.

The 5-cent expedited service is under consideration by an 11-member advisory council to the Senate Post Office Committee.

Carlson heads the council; the 10 other members are citizens representing various classes of mail users.

Funeral Held Wrong Man In Arkansas

Relatives Collapse When Faced By Man They Thought Dead

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 17 (P)—A 46-year-old man here yesterday confronted his grief-stricken sister and a niece who thought he was dead and who had held a funeral for him. Both women collapsed.

The body of a man killed in a Texarkana, Ark., railroad yard accident Aug. 27 had been identified by the two women as Van Iber Sellman. Sellman's mother had also identified the body as her son's.

Today Miller County Sheriff W. E. Davis said he has requested that Bowie County, Tex., authorities exhume the body buried at a Bowie County cemetery under the name of Sellman.

The sister and niece—Mrs. G. A. Baldwin and Mrs. Henry Cerar, both of Texarkana—were first informed Sunday that Sellman was alive by a woman who refused to identify herself.

The woman said Sellman was alive and living in Longview, Tex. Mrs. Baldwin's husband went to Longview and returned with Sellman. Sellman's mother, Mrs. Lela Sellman, is now living in Cleveland, Ohio.

Sheriff Davis said the sister and niece collapsed and so did Sellman when the meeting took place here yesterday.

Sellman said he didn't know he was believed to have been killed. Positive identification of the body as that of Sellman was made by his mother, by Mrs. Cerar, who saw the victim in a Texarkana hospital while he was still conscious; by Mrs. Baldwin and her husband, and Charles Ainsworth, of Texarkana, an in-law of Sellman.

The body, which had been struck by a train, carried no identification papers. A wallet was found empty. The death was ruled accidental.

Sellman's relatives said they last saw Sellman on Aug. 22—five days before the accident—during a visit from Waco, Tex., where he had been working at the time.

Dulles Urges Russia To Change Policies For World Peace

Says Need For New Avenues To Peace Was Never So Great; Pledges US Will Do Its Part For Peace In Same Spirit It Asks Russia; US Not 'Exporting Revolution'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (P)—Secretary of State Dulles urged the Russians today to change their policies and co-operate for world peace before it is too late.

He told the Eighth U. N. Assembly in a policy declaration approved by President Eisenhower that the need for new avenues to peace never was so great, since scientists have found means which "can wipe life off the surface of this planet." He obviously was referring to the hydrogen bomb and the atomic weapons.

He pledged that the United States will do its part for peace in the same spirit it asks the Russians to adopt.

Dulles further told the Russians and the world in his 37-minute address that the United States is not "exporting revolution" nor inciting others to violence.

Some key delegates said Dulles apparently was trying to calm the fears of the Russians and of some American allies that the United States might promote armed revolutions in satellite countries and bring on a world war. Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky will answer Dulles, perhaps late this week.

"Our hope is that the Soviet Communist leader, before it is too late, will recognize that love of God, love of country and sense of human dignity always survive," Dulles said.

He said the world is at a crisis and that mere words by Soviet leaders are not enough to relax tensions. He added:

"Policies which will permit Korea to be united and free; which will allow independence to come peacefully to Indochina; which will unite Germany and free Austria; which will end the dedication of the Soviet Communist party to the violent overthrow of independent government—such are the policies which would go far to end present tensions."

"Dulles said the United States is ready to discuss all these policies, but so far its invitations have not been answered."

He accused the Communists of being glibly about arranging the Korean peace conference while under the terms of the Korean armistice, should convene before Oct. 28. He indicated that there is doubt whether the Communist side really wants to withdraw forces from Korea and create an independent Korea.

Vishinsky was extremely affable after the Assembly adjourned, indicating that Dulles had said nothing that angered him. He was asked whether he regarded the Dulles speech as an overture to peace.

He replied, "No, it takes two sides." He was asked if he felt the hand of peace has been extended. "It takes two hands to clasp for peace," he replied.

He was asked if he felt the situation had improved in the last two weeks, but he turned that aside with a smile.

Dulles had the stage to himself this morning. The general debate, in which the delegates state the views of their governments, will continue tomorrow morning. It is expected to extend into next week, with the committees to begin work at its end. The Assembly hopes to adjourn Dec. 8.

Missouri, Kansas Broil Under Late Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

The calendar says it's fall, but Missouri and Kansas are broiling under a heat wave that has pushed temperatures above the 100-mark in several localities.

With the football season about to open, September heat records were tumbling like autumn leaves. In St. Joseph, Mo., for instance, the weatherman took a 101 degree reading today—the highest for the season ever recorded by the local weather bureau there.

In Salina, and Russell, Kan., the afternoon readings Thursday were 102. In Topeka it reached 104. It was the hottest September day ever recorded in Topeka, the previous high being 101 Sept. 18, 1925.

Kansas City also produced a record with 98 degrees. Sept. 17, 1895 furnished the old high of 96. Jefferson City, Mo., also recorded a 98.

Atchison, Kan., sweltered in 102-degree temperature Thursday afternoon, the hottest September reading since 1942. Hutchinson had 101, Hill City 99, Garden City 99 and Dodge City 97.

In Missouri, Butler registered 96, Joplin 95, and Kirksville 94.

Miss Sullivan, Robert Burkett Wed September 5

The ceremony uniting Miss Dorothy Sullivan, Kansas City, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, Sedalia, and Mr. Robert E. Burkett, Kansas City, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burkett, Michigan City, Ind., was solemnized at 8 o'clock in the morning Sept. 5 at Our Lady of Good Counsel, Kansas City. The Rev. Clement Ilmburger, former Sedalian and schoolmate of the bride, performed the single ring ceremony. The only decorations were bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

The church organist and soloist sang "Ave Maria", "O Sanctissimus" and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy". Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. James J. Sullivan, the bride wore a "Remembrance Blue" taffeta frock fashioned with a full skirt and bolero jacket. Her matching close fitting hat was trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with a white orchid.

Miss Genevieve Sullivan, Sedalia, was her sister's only attendant. She wore a dress of "Bisque beige" taffeta with full skirt. Her small brown velvet hat was trimmed with pearls and she carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. James Burkett, Michigan City, Ind., was his brother's only attendant. Mr. William Burkett, brother of the bridegroom, also of Michigan City, and Mr. Robert Ficke, Kansas City, were ushers. Little Sheila Sullivan, niece of the bride, was flower girl and she wore a dress of polished cotton. She carried a small bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy tulle suit with matching accessories complimented with a white orchid.

The wedding breakfast was served at 10 o'clock at Benish's to fifty guests. Bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums and white candles were used as decorations. When the couple left on a trip to the Lake of the Ozarks to the new Mrs. Burkett was wearing a camel color wool dress with brown velvet hat and brown accessories. Her ensemble was completed with an orchid corsage.

After Sept. 15 they will be at home at Benton Manor Apts., Kansas City.

Mrs. Burkett is a Smith Cotton High School graduate and attended Central Business College before moving to Kansas City. She was employed for five years by Thos. McGee Ins. Co., in Kansas City and is now employed by Porter Real Estate Company.

Mr. Burkett attended Purdue University and graduated from the University of Missouri. He is an engineer for Standard Oil Company in Kansas City.

Out of town relatives and friends attending the wedding other than those mentioned above were: Miss Helen McPatrick, Miss Kate Sullivan, Mrs. Leo Lennartz, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Timbrious, Mrs. J. C. Connor, Miss Mayme Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McMurdo, all of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Sullivan, Manhattan, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. ## Miss Shirley England Becomes Bride Of Jimmy Fender In Formal Ceremony

In a three o'clock ceremony, solemnized Sunday afternoon, Aug. 30 at the First Methodist Church, Miss Shirley Ann England became the bride of Mr. Jimmy Roy Fender. The Rev. Roy L. Bowers, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with gladioli, chrysanthemums, jade foliage, and seven branched candelabra, which held lighted white tapers tied with white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. England, 1622 South Speed, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. R. J. Fender, 8201 South Kentucky.

As the guests were being seated Miss Carolyn Stewart played a program of organ music which included "Evening Star", "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Ave Maria". Miss Stewart accompanied Mr. A. Domingue as he sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly". While the couple were kneeling at the altar he sang "O Perfect Love".

Miss Bobbie Ann Dale and Mrs. Richard Stephens lighted the candles as "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" was being played. They wore identical gowns of taffeta with net overskirt in shades of dark green and light pink, respectively. Their headbands were of pink carnations.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by her maid of honor, Miss Janet Keele, and bridesmaid, Miss Mary Kathryn Scott. Miss Keele's gown was of pale green satin with matching overskirt of net. A net stole was worn with the strapless bodice. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations tied with yellow satin ribbon. Miss Scott wore a gown of lavender net and satin sash like that of the maid of honor's. Her bouquet was also of yellow carnations with matching ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white nylon faille which swept into an aisle wide train. The fitted bodice was designed with long sleeves and rounded yoke of nylon illusion. Two rows of ruffled overskirt bustle in the back. The wedding gown belongs to the bride's cousin, Mrs. Sam Gallup, and Mrs. Fender is the fourth bride in the family to wear the gown. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion was secured to a cap of satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Dennis R. Semkin served Fender as best man and Mr. Victor P. Scott was groomsmen. Mr. David Lee Fender and Mr. Raymond D. Kahrs, Smithton, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. England wore a dress of aqua with white accessories accented with a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Fender, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a navy blue dress with matching accessories. A corsage of white carnations was pinned at her left shoulder.

A reception was held in the church dining room immediately following the ceremony. An arrangement of pink flowers and greenery formed the background for the bride's table which was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink roses and fern encircled the cake.

Mr. Robert England, Miss Mary Lou Mitchell and Mrs. Marion Edmondson served the punch and Miss Ruth Ann Fender, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Bonnie Haggard cut and served the cake. Miss Shirley Bryan and Miss Alberta Lane were in charge of the guest book.

When the couple left on a honeymoon to Colorado Springs, Colo., the new Mrs. Fender was attired in a light tan silk shantung dress with navy accessories and pink carnation corsage.

The bride is a 1932 graduate of Smith - Cotton High School and is Ryan, Miss Harriet Hauber entertained for Miss Sullivan at the home of Miss Duggins, 328 South Elmwood, Kansas City, with a miscellaneous shower.

Guests were the office force of the Thomas McGee Ins. Co. Miss Millie Lickette and Miss Cecelia Keane gave a party and miscellaneous shower for Miss Sullivan at the home of Miss Lickette, 1215 Armour, Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnson, 707 West Second, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Helen Duncan, to Mr. Darwin Scott, 511 West Second. The marriage will take place Thanksgiving Day in Sedalia.

Barbara A. Bowersox Recent Bride Of Lt. Michael Bogutski In Michigan

Miss Barbara Ann Bowersox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowersox, Grand Rapids, Mich., became the bride of Lt. Michael Joseph Bogutski, Walker Air Base, Roswell, N. M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bogutski, formerly of Sedalia now of St. Louis, at 11 o'clock mass Saturday, September 5 at St. Alphonsus Church in Grand Rapids.

The very Rev. George Strass, C.S.S.R. performed the ceremony before an altar set with golden urns of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and myrtle. White satin ribbons, white gladioli and myrtle marked the pews. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hess, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. William Martin were masters and mistresses of the ceremony.

As the guests were being seated Miss Alberta Winterhalter, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Goggins, organist, played "Prayer from Oetel" by Schubert and "Verum Religiosum". Mrs. Morton Hendrickson sang "Ave Maria", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother".

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Paul Bowersox, Spring Fork, and Mr. Richard G. Buyske, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Buyske, Springfield, were married on August 23 at two o'clock in the afternoon at Holly Springs, Miss. The Rev. William T. Bailey performed the double ring ceremony at his parsonage.

The bride wore a white palm beach suit, with beige accessories and corsage of red carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Cole Camp High School with the class of 1946. She is employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The bridegroom is employed by the Western Electric and is temporarily located at Sedalia.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, September 5. Two pairs of crystal chandeliers formed the setting for a three tiered wedding cake, which was adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The cake was encircled with roses and fern. Cake and punch were served to 75 relatives and friends.

Miss Virginia Fleck, Kalamazoo, Mich., cousin of the bride, wore a gown identical to that of the matron of honor. They both wore small velvet hats and gloves of the same color and carried fan shaped bouquets of Heart of France asters and purple gladioli with ivy.

Capt. Victor Bogutski, Forbes Air Base, Topeka, Kan., served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Paul R. Bowersox Jr., Mr. Bruce Bowersox, brothers of the bride, Mr. John R. Beckwith, cousin, and Mr. Gerry Jackowski.

William Bowersox and Michael Jackowski assisted as acolytes for the mass.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bowersox wore a strict length jacket dress of blueberry taffeta with a self embroidered jacket, matching hat and shoes and dusty rose gloves. A corsage of dusty rose gladioli completed her ensemble. Mrs. Bogutski, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a navy blue dress with matching hat and purse accented with a corsage of pink mums and gladioli.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for 50 guests was served in the English Room of Hotel Rowe and a reception was

Miss Mary C. Meyer Becomes Bride Of Chalmes Snyder In Formal Nuptials

Miss Mary Carolyn Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Meyer, 516 West Third, exchanged vows with Mr. Chalmes Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder, at 9 o'clock in the morning, September 7 at Sacred Heart Church. Gladioli on each side of the altar were the only church decorations and the Rev. Anthony Magoni officiated.

Mrs. Earl Paxton, organist, furnished the traditional music. She accompanied Miss Jane Boul as she sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother", "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white tulle gown with rose point lace. The fitted bodice of lace over satin which fastened down the front with tiny lace covered buttons, was styled with a Queen Ann collar and long sleeves with formed points over hands and were fastened at the wrists with lace covered buttons. The bouffant skirt was accented with a deep flounce of lace, lengthened into an aisle-wide train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a fitted cloche of rose point lace trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book topped with rosebuds.

Miss Mary Brockman, Kansas City, maid of honor, wore a floor length formal of blue with net overskirt and lace trim. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Mr. Joseph Meyer, Kansas City, was his brother's best man. Mr. F. E. Bopp, Sedalia, and Mr. Thomas Ryan, Kansas City, were ushers.

Mrs. Meyer was attired in a navy blue crepe dress with white accessories and corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a black faille dress accented with white accessories and white carnation corsage.

A wedding breakfast was held at the Old Missouri Homestead for the wedding party and immediate families. From 1 until 3 that afternoon a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations were of mixed asters. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and was encircled with red roses and greenery.

Mrs. Jane and Regina Boul, cousins of the bride, and Mrs. Henry Tomlinson, served the cake and punch. Mrs. Joe Meyer, Kansas City, was in charge of the guest book.

Following the reception the couple left on a trip. The bride was wearing a beige suit with brown accessories, and white rose corsage.

The bride graduated from Sacred Heart High School and St. Joseph's School of Nursing. She is now employed in the orthopedic department at St. Joseph Hospital, Kansas City.

The bridegroom graduated from Lee's Summit High School and served in the Navy. He is employed at Westinghouse Electric Company. They will be at home after Oct. 1 at 3409 Tracy Ave., Kansas City.

Out of town guests were: Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Warren, Joyce and Virginia, north of Knob Noster, entertained with a turkey dinner at their home Sunday to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Warren's sister, Mrs. L. H. Whitehouse, Sedalia.

Rheta Pittaway Exchanges Vows With J. Smith

Miss Rheta Joanne Pittaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pittaway, and Mr. Jack Deneen Smith, Chillicothe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Smith, Ottumville, were united in marriage at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, August 30, in the First Methodist Church in Chillicothe. The Rev. Perry P. Taylor performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms and baskets of yellow and white gladioli between standards of tall white tapers. An archway, wound with green leaves, interspersed with white and yellow gladioli, provided the setting for the ceremony.

An organ program played by Mrs. Joseph J. Shy included "On Wings of Song", "I'll Walk Beside You", "I Love You Truly", "Till the End of Time", Schubert's "Serenade" and "Through the Years". Leon Cox sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". Miss Shirley Chambers sang "As You Desire Me." Both were accompanied by Mrs. Shy.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white Alencon lace over taffeta and net, designed with a strapless bodice of net over taffeta, topped with a fitted bodice of white Alencon lace, buttoned to the waist with tiny lace-covered buttons and with a small hand-clipped collar. The long sleeves tapered to a point over the hands. The very bouffant skirt was of hand-clipped lace and formed a cutaway jacket revealing a double net skirt of ballerina length. A half hat of lace held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white Fuji mums and stephanotis centered with white orchids.

Miss Deane Pittaway, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a gown of blue net over taffeta fashioned with a strapless bodice and a ballerina length skirt sprinkled with rhinestones, with a stole of net. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Judy Newmyer, Kansas City, cousin of the bride, and Miss Jane Anne Hunt, wearing identical gowns of blue taffeta designed with strapless, crushed bodices and billowing ballerina-length skirts, lighted the tapers. Their flowers were white carnations worn at the waist.

Mr. Lynn Wagenknecht, Smithton, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Denny Hudson and Mr. Bob Hall.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pittaway chose regiment blue with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose beige with beige and brown accessories. Their corsages were yellow roses.

A reception in the church parlor followed the ceremony. Mrs. Vincent Collins, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Richard Haddock, the punch. Martha Haddock had charge of the guest book. Mrs. R. A. Hartley, the bride wore black and white with white accessories, with a corsage of white orchids. After September 13, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be at home in Columbia, where they will attend classes at the University of Missouri.

Among the out of town guests were: Mrs. H. E. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Green, Sr. and Patricia E. Green, all of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin W. Douth, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Douth and Francis Douth, all of Independence; Miss Mary Case, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Nickols, Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Smith, Ottumville; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rogers, Mrs. Nellie Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Newmyer and Joe. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Ricketts, Barney Randall, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith, Lyndell and Gay, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith, Neil and Randy, Mrs. O. J. Long, all of Kansas City; Mrs. Helen McKenzie of Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Case, St. Louis.

Games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Gordon Wolf, Mrs. John Rush, Mrs. Noah Phillips, Mrs. Cecil Smith and Mrs. Raymond Pummill.

Refreshments were served to: Mrs. Carl Gimple, Mrs. Berry Bowlin, Mrs. Charles Rush, Mrs. Gordon Wolf, Mrs. J. M. Rush, Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mrs. Elmer Reeves, Mrs. Noah Phillips, Mrs. Roy Shoe, Mrs. Cecil Smith, Mrs. Roy Spaulding, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Bob Hartley, Mrs. George Francis and children, Mrs. Paul Henderson and daughter, Mrs. Raymond Pummill, Mrs. John Hartley, Mrs. William Smith, and sons, and Paul Henderson.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mrs. Ruby Shoemaker, Mrs. James Anderson, Miss Helen Reeves, Mrs. Jesse White, Mrs. Harry Frederick, Miss Mary Bowlin, Mrs. Mary Calvin, Mrs. Raymond Fetters, Mrs. Mary Simon, Mrs. Ray Tickamyer, William Smith, John Hartley, Mr. Spaulding, John Hartley Jr., and Carl Lawson.

The meeting opened with the repeating of the circle watchword and the Love chapter. Devotionals were given by Miss Grace Colvin, Mrs. Ernest Schlobahn and Mrs. Swope.

A poem, "Today," was read and their were prayers offered for the ill and bereaved by Mrs. Green. A report was given that 49 calls were made during August.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and place cards were small replicas of school slates, black with red binding, on each was a part of the song "School Days," each taking their turn singing what was on their slate.

The morning was spent quilting and after the members went back to their quilting on the 11th quilt since starting in June.

Hostesses for the October meeting will be Mrs. J. F. Kirkhart and Mrs. J. A. Ramey.

and Mrs. Sam Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Raeburn Lane, Knob Noster.

VA Wiping Out Hospital Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans' Administrator Harvey Higley said today his agency is moving "as rapidly as possible" toward wiping out segregation of whites and Negroes in veterans' hospitals.

"We find any semblance of segregation unsocial, uneconomical and undesirable," he said, "and . . . we hope the day is not far removed when there will be no semblance of racial segregation in VA hospitals."

Higley made the statements in an exchange of letters released today, with Clarence Mitchell, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

Mitchell had asked Higley in an Aug. 7 letter what he was doing to end segregation in veterans' hospitals in line with President Eisenhower's stated stand against segregation in any federal institutions.

In an interview, Mitchell said segregation was practiced in most VA hospitals in 17 Southern states. He said he didn't know the number of hospitals involved, but knows of only five VA hospitals in the 17 states which don't have segregation of white and colored veterans to segregation only in hospital barber shops.

Higley told Mitchell in his letter, dated Aug. 14, that the VA "has attempted to take the lead in minimizing segregation," and he continued: "In certain areas, however, it has been found that segregation to some degree is necessary for the medical well-being of veterans. We are continually reviewing this situation and are eliminating segregation as rapidly as possible without sacrificing medical considerations."

Mitchell on Aug. 18 wrote Higley asking about the reference to necessity of segregation for the well-being of patients. Higley replied: "This statement was made particularly to the field of neuropsychiatry (treatment of mental ailments) . . . The area in which we may expect unpredictable and often violent reactions to prejudices and outside stimuli . . . We must take precautions to avoid clashes and flareups which are detrimental to the well-being of patients."

"This problem is being seriously studied in the hope that a solution may be found to accomplish this objective without segregation," Mitchell had told Higley in his Aug. 7 letter.

"In many hospitals a quota of beds is assigned to colored veterans. If these beds are filled colored patients are not admitted to the hospital even though there may be vacancies in the beds assigned to white patients."

"We have instances in which colored veterans suffering from critical ailments could not get into hospitals because no colored beds were available."

Higley wrote in reply: "The implication is that some beds were available. We have no knowledge of any such instances. If such a thing has happened, it is wrong. This charge is being looked into and instructions issued that veterans who are in need of care shall be admitted if beds are available."

Mrs. Maclean May Be Meeting With Husband

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Donald Maclean, who vanished last Friday, appears to have slipped out of Switzerland for a rendezvous with her husband, missing himself from his British Foreign Office post for 27 months.

The most impressive police search in recent Swiss history had failed tonight to pick up the trail of the Chicago-born Mrs. Maclean, 37, and her three children after she parked her Chevrolet sedan in a Lausanne garage at 6:50 p. m. Friday and darted across the border toward the railway station.

Whether Mrs. Maclean met her husband in a neighboring country or was being taken to him by friends of the missing British specialist in American affairs were questions baffling police.

Maclean and Guy Burgess, a fellow diplomat who was occasionally his drinking companion, dropped out of sight on a trip from Britain to France May 26, 1951. Officials suspect that, either voluntarily or as kidnapping victims, they landed behind the Iron Curtain.

Lausanne is a railroad communications center from which almost any point in Europe could be reached. Police have checked all border points and found no trace of the missing family.

Moberly Youngsters Get Polio Injections

MOBERLY, Mo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Operation Lollipop left a lot of sore hops among Moberly's youngsters today as they submitted to gamma globulin injections for polio.

For nine hours a stream of school children from 6 to 16 passed through the lines at the Municipal Auditorium where doctors were administering the shots in the state's first mass inoculation.

By Saturday night the doctors hope to have given the dosages to approximately 6,000 children in Randolph County, where 22 cases of polio have been reported.

Soviet Union Tests 'New Type' Atomic Bomb

MOSCOW, Friday, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it has successfully tested some "new type" atomic bombs in recent weeks.

It added Russia hoped a ban would be placed on all types of mass destruction weapons and is looking into prospects for peaceful use of atomic energy in industry.

A dispatch from the Soviet news agency Tass published in the government newspaper Izvestia said the successful experimental tests had taken place.

The dispatch said that although the Soviet Union was able to give attention to the production of atomic weapons, the nation also followed a policy of strengthening peace and trying to reach agreement with other countries on the prohibition of atomic, hydrogen bombs and other kinds of weapons for mass destruction.

No details were given about the "new type" tested.

Otis Howe Heads Legion Post 342

Otis Howe, veteran of World War I and holder of the Purple Heart decoration, was elected Commander of American Legion Post No. 342 at their regular meeting Thursday night. Howe has been a member of the Legion for many years.

Delegates to the Seventh District meeting at Green Ridge were elected. Delegates are Otis Howe and Evert Stump, alternates are John Henry Brooks and Dick Eckhoff.

The meeting was held at the new Post club rooms at Second and Osage over the John's Auto Supply Co., which was recently acquired and newly decorated.

Korean Peace Talks May Open Soon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold issued a brief note at U. N. headquarters tonight which may open a way for debate here on Red China's demand for a "round table" Korean peace conference. Such a conference would include five nations as neutrals against the wishes of the United States and others.

U. N. sources said delegates under U. N. rules of procedure now could debate the contents of the Communist reply because the secretary general has brought it specifically to their attention.

His action came after a closed meeting of the U. N. Allies in Korea at which, some diplomatic sources said, the group agreed on tactics to pigeonhole the Red Chinese note sent to Hammarskjold last Sunday. North Korea sent a similar reply.

Police Court

John Sanders, route 1, Beaman, charged with disturbing the peace at the Missouri Bowl last Saturday night, was dismissed by Judge R. L. Weinrich in police court Thursday morning after a hearing. Sanders was arrested after he allegedly had severely beaten Norman Eugene Dawson, Sedalia Star Route, in front of the place.

According to testimony in police court Dawson was said to have made some remarks to Sander's wife to which Sanders objected. In the fracas, considerable damage resulted to the front screen door as the two men went out the door and resumed their fighting on the sidewalk. Dawson was treated at the Bothwell Hospital, after the fight, for severe bruising on the left side of his face and head. Sanders had a small scratch on the left side of his nose.

Bob Burlingame, 200 East 28th, charged with disturbing the peace of Delbert Arnold at Main and Ohio, was dismissed by Judge R. L. Weinrich after a hearing.

Norman Eliot Solomon, Clayton, charged with making a left turn at Sixth and Ohio, forfeited a $5 cash bond.

George R. Blackburn, Joplin, charged with running a red traffic light, forfeited a $5 cash bond.

Five overtime parking bonds of $1 each were ordered forfeited when defendants failed to appear in police court.

John Hill, 916 West Third, charged with speeding, forfeited a $15 cash bond. He was arrested on Sept. 8.

The cases of three speeders, arrested Wednesday night by State Trooper Pete Stohr of the Highway Patrol, were set by Judge R. L. Weinrich: Jack Munford, 20, Springfield and Dale House, 25, Springfield, for Saturday, Sept. 19, and Norman Illec, Bancroft, for Tuesday, Sept. 22. All three were released Wednesday on bonds of $15 each.

A charge of common assault, filed against Chester A. Foster last Oct. 23, was dropped Thursday morning by Harold Barrick, prosecuting attorney.

June Mattie Trotter was granted a change of name Wednesday to June Mattie Dickerson, her with no unexpected developments, a staff surgeon reported.

The concluding steps of the operation were expected to take an hour or so.

If both girls survive, the surgeons believe they will have written a new page in medical history. A spokesman at New Orleans Foundation Hospital said that never before have both twins survived such an operation.

The surgeons separated the lower intestinal tract that the eight-week-old girls shared after dividing a fused vertebrae that also joined them.

The girls are the daughters of Mayor and Mrs. Ashton J. Mouton of Lafayette.

Hospital spokesmen said yesterday the girls, Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne, are "bright, alert and normal in every respect except for the connection."

The girls were born in the Lafayette Sanitarium July 22.

The only organ the twins had in common was the lower intestinal tract, spokesmen said. They were joined at the fourth sacral vertebrae, which is fused.

The lower intestinal tract was bypassed in a preliminary operation by an opening in the abdominal wall, spokesmen said. Plastic surgery will complete each twin's lower intestinal tract.

The twins, under observation since their birth, have been found normal in mental development, general health and growth. They apparently have separate functioning nervous systems and independent spinal cords, except a junction in the dural sac, the covering of the spinal cord at the lower end.

They weighed 11 pounds, eight ounces at birth and have gained about three pounds since.

The first born, Carolyn Anne, was the longest, 14 inches. Her weight was 16 1/2 inches long. Each has grown about an inch and three-quarters.

At one point in the delivery, Carolyn Anne stopped breathing and had to be revived by artificial respiration. The twins went into an incubator at birth.

Mrs. Mouton's pregnancy was normal, spokesmen said. Mouton described the recovery of his 33-year-old wife as "phenomenal." She left the sanitarium after six days.

The Moutons have two other children, Stella Rose, 9 and Ashton Jr., 6.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Secretary Dulles, in his opening address to the United Nations Thursday, came very close to saying that the suicide of Russian-type Communism is a prerequisite to peace.

That fundamental concept has often been overlooked in the last few years as first one approach and then another has been made toward meeting Russian aggression.

Russian-type Communism, as opposed to the socialist concept which Moscow perverts, to attempts to use the aspirations of unhappy man as a weapon for imperialist expansion of Russia herself. It merely puts a cloak over traditional Russian policy of expansion at the expense of any and all other peoples, a policy which has dominated Russian relations with her neighbors for 500 years.

Among the things which Russia must do if her peaceful professions are to carry any weight abroad, said Dulles, is to end the dedication of the Soviet Communist party to the violent overthrow of independent governments.

That is not necessarily to say that there can be no so-called peace with the present Russia.

Couple with the secretary's other statements about the need for Allied strength and Allied unity, it does suggest that there can be only an enforced peace of expediency, under which Russia will find it unprofitable to continue her program actively.

The concrete points at which Russia could help ease world tension which Dulles lists, including a united Korea, peace in Indochina, unification of Germany, an Austrian peace treaty and liberation of the satellites, rank only as incidental to this one big question of attitude.

The reference to easing tension, rather than approaching a real peace, is significant.

For years it has been obvious that the only safe peace with Russia will be one enforced by the West's power of retaliation. And that is not true peace.

The possibility that Russia's rulers will make a voluntary about-face toward world co-operation is so remote as to be almost inconceivable. To do so, and make the world feel that it was real, would require a complete retreat from the idea of world Communist revolution. It would require the abolition of totalitarianism, and substitution of a system of government under which the will of the Russian people would have to be consulted before the regime could entertain thoughts of war. Russia would have to become like other countries.

She ain't.

Mrs. Pandit Cuts Malik Off UN Sound System

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, the U. N. General Assembly's first woman president, pulled a switch today and cut Russia's Jacob A. Malik off the U. N. sound system.

It happened during a debate over putting on the agenda a proposal to begin studies on a U. N. Charter revision conference two years hence.

The United States supports charter revision; Russia is against it.

Three speakers for each side were supposed to speak and did. As Mrs. Pandit was about to begin the vote count, Malik raised his hand. Mrs. Pandit recognized him on a point of order but when Malik got to the rostrum he began attacking the statements of U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

Since that made Malik one over the quota, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold leaned over and whispered to Mrs. Pandit, Mrs. Pandit hit a switch which cut off Malik's lectern microphone. In turn, that stopped the translation.

Malik whirled around, then said in Russian, "not translated officially." "That is why I oppose the item," and stalked off the rostrum.

Youth Kills Girl Who Spurned Pleas To Quit School, Wed

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—A 15 year old girl who spurned her boy friend's pleas to quit school and marry him was shot and killed last night as she slept in bed with her mother.

The rejected suitor then fatally shot himself.

The shooting occurred in the farm home of Mrs. Mary King, who was awakened after her daughter Janet had been killed.

Lying unconscious on the front room floor of the King home was James Jacob Bolt, 18, an auto supply store clerk. He died about three hours later in a Decatur hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Pulliam of Macon County said Mrs. King, a widow, told him Bolt had visited her daughter last night and they had quarreled over his insistence that Janet quit school.

Pulliam quoted Mrs. King as saying Bolt was "getting restless because Janet had boy friends at school." Bolt walked into the house, Pulliam said, and without awakening mother and daughter, fired one bullet into the girl's right temple.

Coroner Harold Brintlinger of Macon County termed the double shooting a murder and suicide.

UN Assembly Says Soviet Union Holds World War II POWs

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly today overrode Russian objections and voted to give another full airing to charges that the Soviet Union still holds thousands of German, Japanese and Italian prisoners captured in World War II.

The prisoner of war question has been before the Assembly since 1950. At that time the Assembly set up a special commission to study the problem. The specific question before this session is the report of this group.

U. N. Countries Want Peace Talk Plans Made

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 17 (AP)—U. N. countries which sent forces to Korea were reported today to have decided to ask Red China and North Korea again to name a place and time for the Korean peace conference.

Top delegates of the 16 countries met briefly in a U. N. committee room after receiving North Korea's reply to their first message. The North Koreans followed Red China's line in demanding that neutrals be included in the conference and in failing to set a time and date for the conference.

One Day Drive For Members Set by C. of C.

A one day membership drive by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, with a goal of securing at least 60 new members, is set for next Wednesday, Sept. 23.

With 40 new members already signed up during the year, 60 more will make the quota which was established at the beginning of the current Chamber fiscal year.

Next Wednesday morning a selected group of about 60 workers, and officers and members of the board, will meet for a breakfast at the Bothwell Hotel and will organize then into two - man teams for the drive. Leaving the session, the teams will each call upon three or four business or professional men to enlist their support in the community business organization.

Kennie Miller, director of the membership division, Maslon Wilson, chairman of the committee, Bill Ward, finance chairman, and K. U. Love, vice - president in charge, will handle details for the solicitations.

Sen. McCarthy Will Be Married To Miss Jean Kerr

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Miss Jean Kerr, former research assistant in his office, are to be married.

Mrs. William P. Kerr, mother of the bride-to-be, announced the engagement today. The wedding will be Sept. 29, in St. Matthews (Roman Catholic) Cathedral here.

Miss Kerr, 29, was employed in McCarthy's office from 1948 until 1952.

A brunette, she was voted the most beautiful girl at George Washington University in 1945 while a student in the school here. McCarthy is 42. A former judge in Wisconsin, he was elected to the Senate in 1946.

Miss Kerr, a native of Washington, joined the senator's staff on her graduation from Northwestern University in 1948. Her name has been linked romantically with that of the bachelor senator since shortly after that time.

Chrysler Corp. Gets Contract for Tank Recovery Vehicles

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. held a brand new $50 million dollar defense contract today for the recovery of tanks and other armored vehicles to be built at the Detroit Arsenal in nearby Center Line, where Chrysler is scheduled to complete an M47 tank-making contract around Nov. 1.

No estimate was given of the number of tank recovery vehicles to be built.

Waitress Says She Is Married To Her

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 17 (AP)—A former yacht club waitress testified today a honeymooned waitress in Santa Pacific Islands in the defense of her claims she is the common law wife of William H. Berg, 39, an heir to the Anheuser-Busch brewery fortune.

Lois Chacon Berg, 29, told the court yesterday she and Berg were married Sept. 1, 1950, aboard his yacht, Brigand, by the craft's captain, William Van Landingham.

The ceremony performed just off the California shoreline, was later ruled invalid on grounds the skipper was not empowered by California law to perform a marriage.

Mrs. Berg is seeking $350,000 attorney fees and a division of community property.

The court took the case under advisement until Sept. 24.

Singer Wins Wife Via The Wireless

MATTAPoisett, Mass., Sept. 17 (AP)—When Guglielmo Marconi invented the wireless, he probably didn't realize its romantic potentialities.

Such as Irving Vermilya's announcement by short wave today to fellow "hams" that he had wooed and won via that medium Miss Margaret Fabens Bowles of Marblehead, He, a radio engineer, and she, a government cartographer, were stationed at Scotia, N. Y., were wed Aug. 13, but kept it a secret.
